Butter Labeling Bill for State Up For House Action

Preliminary Approval
Given Law
By Voice Vote

ST. PAUL (U) — A bill calling for the compulsory grade labeling of all butter sold in Minnesota comes up for final action in the House today after winning preliminary approval on a voice vote late Wednesday.

The measure would make it illegal to possess or sell any butter at retail unless it has been graded and labeled. Classifications set are "Grade Minnesota AA" for a 99 score product; "Grade A" requiring 92 score and "Grade B" to include all below that standard.

Rep. A. F. Oberg, Lindstrom, a leading proponent, said passage of the bill would prevent the state from becoming "a dumping ground for low grade butter." He was supported by Rep. H. R. Anderson, North Mankato, who said it was necessary to keep out "cheap butter from other states."

The measure carries the backing of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, the Minnesota Farmers Union, the Minnesota Creamery Operators and Managers Assn., and the Red River Valley Dairyman's Assn., among others.

Rep. Alvin O. Holstad, Madison, chairman of the House Dairy Products and Livestock and a chief author of the bill, said Wisconsin had been flooded with low grade butter until a similar law was put on the books there.

Rep. Paul Widstrom, Hibbing, argued that "the public hasn't asked for this bill and it can lead to a lot of abuses" because butter producers would be subject to human fallacy and judgment in setting their grades. He added that a lot of small producers "are going to take a shelling" if the bill succeeds.

San Francisco Awarded 1956 GOP Convention

WASHINGTON (U) — The Republican National Committee today unanimously ratified the selection of San Francisco as the site for the GOP national convention in 1956. Approval was by a voice vote.

The committee approved a resolution submitted by a site subcommittee calling for convening of the convention in the huge Cow Palace in the West Coast city the week beginning Aug. 20, 1956.

The Democrats have picked Chicago for their 1956 convention, starting either July 23 or Aug. 13. GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall headed the GOP site subcommittee which announced Wednesday it would recommend San Francisco.

President Eisenhower arranged to deliver an off-the-record talk at a closed luncheon meeting of the GOP committee.

Hall, in a speech prepared for the session, heaped praise on Eisenhower as "the greatest leader of our times" and appealed to his fellow committeemen:

"Let's sell Republicanism as we never have before. And we can do it under the leadership of one of the greatest men any party ever had—Dwight D. Eisenhower—if we follow him."

Hall, who says he assumes Eisenhower will run for a second term, also hit at dissenters within the party who, he said, "haven't caught up with the facts of life."

Without naming them, he said, "These little groups don't trouble me—they have always been with us. Every national and every political party has had them."

Up until last week San Francisco had not been considered in the GOP convention picture. Only Chicago and Philadelphia had made formal bids of $250,000 each weeks ago and these were repeated yesterday.

Hall credited Mayor Elmer Robinson with spearheading the drive for selection of San Francisco. The city sent a representative here yesterday offering to match the $250,000 bids of the other cities and promising the GOP rent-free use of the city's Cow Palace, a huge structure built for cattle shows and other exhibitions and having a seating capacity of close to 17,000.

Cool weather and an option on 10,000 hotel rooms also were held out as inducements.

Sec. Of State John Foster Dulles, speaking to the nation via radio Wednesday night, indicated that the Chinese Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu will get American protection if the Chinese Reds attack them as part of an assault on Formosa. Addressing the Foreign Policy Association, Dulles made it clear he is not going to be pinned down, at least not publicly, on what the administration will do to defend the islands. (UP Telephoto)

Dulles Says Russ Will Ease Tensions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (U) — Secretary of State Dulles says a power struggle in Moscow eventually will produce Russian leaders with whom the United States can make "practical agreements" to ease world tensions.

He also says the Formosa crisis can be settled if Red China will renounce the use of force to capture Nationalist-held islands. Diplomats noted that the secretary's speech last night to the Foreign Policy Assn. in New York was calm and peaceful in tone but firm against spread of Communism in any important new areas of Asia.

Dulles apparently took this tone deliberately in contrast to recent warlike speeches by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai. Molotov denounced the United States. Chou threatened, as Dulles put it, to use "all the forces at his command" to capture Formosa.

As for the Formosa problem, Dulles said the United States "has no commitment and no purpose" to defend such islands as Quemoy and the Matus "as such." But he made clear that it might well fight over Quemoy and Matsu if any Communist attack on them was aimed at the conquest of Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa.

Dulles appealed to the Chinese Reds to reconsider a United Nations Security Council bid to discuss a Formosa cease-fire. "It is hardly to be expected," he said, "that the Chinese Communists will renounce their ambitions. However, might they not renounce their efforts to realize their goals by force?"

Discussing the Russian situation, he said a distinction must always be made between the Soviet government and the Communist party.

"The time may come—I believe it will come," he said, "when Russians of stature will patriotically put first their national security and the welfare of their people."

Basis for Negotiations
"They will be unwilling to have that security and that welfare subordinated to the worldwide ambitions of international Communism."

If their point of view should prevail, then indeed there could be a basis for worthwhile negotiation and practical agreement between the United States and the new Russia.

GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall, right, and Tom Gray, manager, Downtown Assn., San Francisco, hold a huge elephant after the Republican High Command voted Wednesday to hold the 1956 convention in San Francisco. The decision of the seven-man committee was ratified by the full GOP committee today. (UP Telephoto)

Debate Begins On Tariff Cuts Before House

Supporters of Ike Confident
Of Victory

WASHINGTON (U) — Supporters of President Eisenhower's program to boost free world trade by cutting tariffs expressed confidence they held the upper hand today as the House called the measure up for debate.

Both Democratic and Republican floor leaders backed the proposal. But a sizable group of insurgents in both parties promised a last-ditch fight before final action, expected late tomorrow. The Senate has not acted.

Foes planned first to try today to upset scheduled procedure—they call it "gag rule"—which would limit the opposition to offering only one amendment. They have a long series of trade-restricting ideas they would like to offer.

Failing that, opponents plan to concentrate tomorrow on the single amendment allowed them. Both sides agreed the President's basic program would pass and the big question was whether it would be amended.

The bill would extend for three more years the President's power to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements, and to make further cuts in tariffs on foreign goods coming into the United States in exchange for trade benefits to American products abroad.

Stiff opposition limited action last year to a one-year extension of the law with no additional tariff-cutting powers.

With much of the tariff-cutting authority under the present law exhausted, the bill would permit the President to reduce all rates 5 per cent each year below the levels in effect next July 1. In some cases he could make bigger cuts.

Eisenhower has argued this would be a vital step to help U.S. allies sell more goods here, help Americans sell more products abroad, and thus bolster the economy of the entire anti-Communist alliance. It would also strengthen military power and political unity, he contends.

Opponents argue that increased imports of cheaper foreign goods will wreck many competing American industries, bringing economic distress and unemployment instead of boom.

Four Injured In Gym Fire

GREEN BAY, Wis. (U) — Four teen-aged youngsters remained in a hospital Wednesday night for treatment of cuts and burns received after fire broke out in a gymnasium during a basketball game.

St. Vincent Hospital said the youngsters received only minor injuries. Three others were given first aid for minor injuries and sent home.

The blaze broke out in the Nicolet grade school auditorium-gym during a Catholic Youth Organization game.

Fire Department officials said there were only a few students and the players in the building when the fire began along the ceiling. They escaped through the exits.

A police department spokesman said 55 persons had left the gym shortly before the fire broke out.

Withholding Bill Will Raise Taxes, State Group Says

MINNEAPOLIS (U) — The income tax withholding bill currently before the Legislature would increase state income taxes of Minnesota individuals 100 per cent from July of 1955 to July of 1956, the Minnesota Taxpayers Assn. said today.

Norman A. Borgen, association secretary, said "the average working man making about $4,800 a year would on the short form pay about $92 taxes under the existing law between July 1 of this year and July 1 of 1956. An additional $92 would be deducted from his salary under the new law."

"This windfall," he said, "will finance additional spending during the coming biennium and will establish a new high level of state spending."

Firemen and crowds of onlookers gathered today in front of the clothing store in Baltimore where six firemen were killed and at least 20 injured in a multi-alarm fire Wednesday. The firemen were trapped as a wall of the burning building collapsed. (UP Telephoto)

Six Firemen Killed in Fire At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (U) — A tumbling wall of a burning downtown clothing store trapped and apparently killed six firemen early today.

Two bodies were recovered. Four firemen were missing.

The men were trapped as they battled a fire Wednesday night in a building on east Baltimore street.

Bodies of Battalion Chief Francis P. O'Brien and Lt. William Barnes were recovered. Missing were firemen Joseph Hanley, Richard Malzer, Rudolph Machovec and Anthony Reinselter.

The fire was in a three-story building housing the Truitt Clothing Co. At least 20 firemen were injured. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined. No damage estimate was available.

11 Perish in Montreal Fire

MONTREAL (U) — Fire whipped through the top floors of a 75-year-old brick apartment house in the heart of snow-covered Montreal last night, killing 11 persons and injuring a dozen others.

Firemen combing the ruins early today said there was "only a very slim possibility" more bodies remained to be found.

Attempts to identify the dead were left until today. Some were suffocated as they fought through the halls or stairways with flame and smoke.

Others were so badly burned that even their sex could not be determined immediately.

As a heavy snow fell, firemen scrambled up ladders to rescue a score of frenzied men and women from wooden balconies and window ledges. Some 200 people lived in the building but many were out.

Air Force Plane Rescues Five

HONOLULU (U) — An Air Force amphibious plane yesterday made a dramatic open-sea rescue of five fishermen, then had to taxi 45 miles through rough seas to Hilo harbor.

When he reached dry land, Capt. Frank M. Leese, pilot, remarked: "I'm glad I'm in the Air Force and not the Navy."

Leese, of Albuquerque, said he did not dare attempt a takeoff in the heavy seas with the added weight of the five fishermen.

His crew doesn't get airsick. But they were slightly pale around the gills at the end of the four-hour water trip.

The two-engine Albatross picked up from the sinking 56-foot fishing sloop Heian Maru the owner, captain Kamesho Makamara, 55; Richard K. Tabata, 28; Masa Miyashiro, 31; Charles K. Yozo, 29; and Roy N. Oyakawa, 29. None were injured.

The Heian rammed a reef, caving in the port side.

100 Aged Women Die in Jap Fire

YOKOHAMA, Japan (U) — About 100 aged women died in flaming agony today when a flash fire roared through a Roman Catholic old ladies' home before dawn.

There were only 46 survivors, police said. Nearly all were burned or injured in jumps from the second floor of their two-story wooden dormitory, declared a fire hazard in 1953. Several were in critical condition.

"I could do nothing," a survivor cried. "I can hear their screams. 'Help!... Help!... Help!... Help!'"

The inmates were mainly pitiful old Japanese women without families. Their ages ranged from 60 to 96.

It was Japan's worst building fire since the Pacific war air raids. Sister Umeko Sugiyama, 42, a nun, died when she dashed back into the burning building to carry out another of her charges.

The home, a converted Japanese army barracks, was part of the convent of the Garden of Our Lady, belonging to the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary, an international Catholic order.

Yokohama police said the blaze apparently started with defective wiring at 4:30 a.m. Heat and sparks ignited a two-story chapel and two other buildings. They too burned to the ground.

The main convent housing 101 nuns and novices, mainly Japanese, was spared.

In the Yokohama National Hospital, the suffering survivors mingled Christian "Our Lady" and "Amen's" with chants of "Namu amida butsu" — the Buddhist prayer of mercy for the dying.

Chiho Hamada, 86, told how the oldest resident, 96-year-old Mrs. Machi Okuni, died.

"We were awakened—only to see flames and smoke all around. 'Okuni-san looked about her and said, 'I am old enough to die.'"

"Then she held up her bed quilt to keep the flames back and let the others escape."

Firemen spread mattresses and implored the old women to jump. Some did. Others were too feeble. Many were hard of hearing and woke only when flames approached them.

'Madame Butterfly' Inspiration Dead

YOKOHAMA, Japan (U) — The woman who gave Puccini the Japanese melodies for his famous opera "Madame Butterfly" is missing and feared dead in the fire that razed a Catholic old ladies home here and burned to death nearly 100 women.

She is Mrs. Hisako Oyama, 85, widow of the late Tamasuke Oyama, Japanese minister to Italy in 1899.

Mrs. Oyama's relatives tentatively identified a body as hers.

They said Mrs. Oyama, a devout Catholic, made her own decision to enter the home and paid her own way. Most of the inmates were destitute. The family said she told them, "I can be nearer to God there."

The world premiere of "Madame Butterfly" was 51 years ago today at Milan's La Scala.

Before World War II, Mrs. Oyama told in a magazine article of her connection with the opera, the story of a geisha girl Cho Cho San's love for an American naval officer and her suicide when he deserts her.

Puccini needed Japanese musical themes and melodies that he could elaborate to give the opera an authentic Japanese atmosphere.

Loot Taken From Safety Deposit Boxes

Scene of Breakin
20 Miles North
Of Grand Forks

OSLO, Minn. (U) — Burglars broke into the Stoltman Exchange here early today and escaped with a loot estimated by an official to total $75,000 in negotiable bonds and securities and $15,000 in cash. Sheriff Oscar C. Erickson said strong boxes were "scattered all over the building, and only a few dimes were found on the floor."

The estimate on the loot was made by Hilary Stoltman, son of Walter Stoltman, operator of the exchange in the former Citizens Bank building here.

The exchange had strong boxes in which businessmen and farmers kept money and securities in individual safety deposit boxes. The exchange is not a bank, only a building in which the safety boxes were located.

Near Grand Forks
Oslo is in northwestern Minnesota, about 20 miles north of Grand Forks, N.D.

Stoltman sells insurance and reportedly kept a considerable amount of cash on hand. The elder Stoltman was in Washington, D.C., and his son was operating the exchange in his absence.

The sheriff said the front door of the place had been jimmied open and an unsuccessful attempt had been made to pry open the door of the vault. Entrance to the vault was made by tooling through the brick wall on the side of the vault.

Hilary Stoltman said none of the deposits were insured but $5,000 of the exchange money was covered by insurance.

Sheriff Erickson said the robbery was "probably the work" of burglars who staged an armed holdup at the Farmers Union Oil Co. here about a month ago.

"If the figures are right," the sheriff said, "it's the biggest robbery we've ever had here."

Hilary Stoltman discovered the burglary when he opened up the exchange this morning.

Boxes Scattered
"I came into the building at about 9:05 a.m.," Stoltman said, "and I found safe deposit boxes all over the floor. Most of them were in two big bunches."

Stoltman said he first called the Minneapolis insurance company that covered part of the exchange's own funds, then tried unsuccessfully to contact his father in Washington, D.C.

Stoltman said it was almost impossible to make an accurate estimate of the money and securities stolen.

"None of the deposits was recorded," he said, "Farmers and businessmen kept most of their valuables in the boxes—cash, securities, personal papers and things like that."

He said he would have to talk to all of the depositors to determine just how much had been taken.

A hole two feet square was chiseled through the 18 inches of the outer vault, Sheriff Erickson said, permitting a person to slip through into the vault chamber where the safe deposit boxes were located.

Apparently untouched was an inner vault, where the exchange kept a portion of its own funds.

Most of the estimated $15,000 stolen was in depositors' money, Stoltman said.

The exchange charges for the rent of the boxes.

Sheriff Erickson said as yet there were no leads to the identity of the burglars. State crime bureau investigators were called in to help sheriff's officers and local authorities.

The loot from the safe deposit boxes was believed to have been dumped into a large cardboard box which Stoltman said was missing from the office.

Erickson advised business places to be on the alert and watch for securities and bonds of doubtful identification.

The building is owned by the Stoltmans, who have operated the exchange for six years.

Use of Radar Hinges on Speed Law

ST. PAUL — The State Highway Patrol is ready to use radar in apprehending speed violators on Minnesota highways if the Legislature passes an absolute speed limit law.

Paul R. Martz, chief of the Highway Patrol, told the Senate public highways committee Wednesday the only thing preventing use of radar in getting evidence against speeders is that under present laws, officers must do more than merely record how fast a driver is going in order to get evidence for a speeding conviction.

Mr. Martz, in pleading for passage of a bill setting 55 miles an hour as an absolute daytime speed limit, said radar can be used in municipalities but not in rural areas because speed is now only prima facie evidence in speeding cases. Other observations must be made by arresting officers, sometimes at the risk of their lives, he said.

Observations of how the driver is acting are usually gained by pursuing the driver sometimes at speeds in excess of 100 miles an hour, Martz said.

Earl Larimer, state safety director, said the 1954 Automobile death toll reached 639 in Minnesota, one more than in 1953, although there were fewer fatal accidents.

"The severity of accidents is increasing, and most of it is due to speed," Larimer said.

The bill calls for 55 miles an hour absolute night speed limit for passenger cars and 55 miles an hour daytime and 45 miles an hour night speed limit on trucks.

Final action on the bill was delayed at least a week so Sen. Arthur Gillen could study effect of the proposal on the trucking industry and whether there would be any danger in setting slower speeds for trucks and for passenger cars.

The committee recommended for passage a bill which would require Minnesota license plate numbers to be coated with a reflectorized material. The reflectorized plates would cost 50 cents more than the present regularly painted kind.

They would be issued every two years, or at longer intervals if they are not damaged, and number tabs for changing years would be issued when new plates are not ordered. The bill now goes to the finance committee.

Dulles Still Dodges Issue on Quemoy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (U)—He didn't say yes and he didn't say no. That sums up Secretary of State Dulles' reply to the important question: Will the Red Chinese be allowed to have Quemoy and Matsu islands? For months the Eisenhower administration's position on that question has been vague. It was still vague after Dulles finished talking about it in a New York speech last night.

Since he didn't make it off the cuff but had plenty of time to prepare it, his vagueness can be considered deliberate. Why? Either because the administration hasn't made up its mind, doesn't want to tell the Reds or wants elbow room for horse trading.

Dulles' words can be interpreted this way:

1. The United States may fight—Dulles didn't say it would—to defend those islands if the Red Chinese try to take them by force.

2. If the Reds play nice, stop talking about invading Formosa and agree to a cease-fire, they may be allowed to have Quemoy and Matsu.

Chiang Kai-shek, American ally, has his main forces on Formosa and the nearby Pescadore Islands, 100 miles across water from the Red Chinese mainland. He has other forces scattered among islands close to the mainland.

The United States is pledged to defend Formosa and the Pescadores under a Senate approved treaty with Chiang. As Dulles said last night, this pledge does not extend to any other Chiang-held islands.

But Eisenhower could, if he thought them necessary to the defense of Formosa, defend the other islands. This power was given him in a special resolution approved by Congress.

He decided the Tachen Islands, 200 miles northwest of Formosa, were not necessary for the latter's defense. So last week Chiang withdrew his troops from the Tachens and let the Reds have them.

But what of Quemoy and Matsu? They're close to the mainland and on a direct line between big mainland ports and Formosa. In the hands of the Reds they could serve as stepping stones for a Formosa invasion.

Dulles said: "The United States has no commitment and no purpose to defend the coastal positions as such." Then, almost wistfully, he wondered whether the Reds "might not renounce their efforts to realize their goals by force." And he added he hoped the Reds' announced decision to take Formosa was "not irrevocable."

But he talked dimly of the idea of letting the Reds have Quemoy and Matsu merely for the asking. He said, "It is doubtful this would serve either the cause of peace or the cause of freedom." Nothing, in so many words, was final in what he said.

Caledonian Signs With Circus Band

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Stanley C. Muenkel, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Muenkel, Caledonia, has accepted a contract with the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus band as cornetist.

He will join the unit at Sarasota, Fla., in mid-March and make his first public appearance with the band, directed by Merle Evans, March 24 in Madison Square Garden, N.Y. Evans signed Muenkel while in Caledonia with the La Crosse band earlier this month. The former Caledonia High School cornet soloist journeyed to Sarasota before Christmas for an audition.

A member of the La Crosse Civic Band and a former member of the La Crosse Symphony Orchestra, Muenkel was a soloist with both. He has been employed here in his father's blacksmith shop. His wife is the former Miss Norma Thronson, Houston. They have five children.

Boston's Pi Alley Is Official Now

BOSTON (U)—Williams Court became Pi Alley officially yesterday—but few will notice the change. The narrow alleyway in the heart of Boston's newspaper row has been known as Pi Alley almost since the first printer dumped his galley of pied (jumbled) type into its dingy recesses.

The block long lane—which begins where the Post and Globe face each other across Washington Street—has long borne the sign "Williams Court" and beneath it the jumbled spelling "(Pie Alley)." But no more. The Public Improvement Commission authorized the switch yesterday.

But he talked dimly of the idea of letting the Reds have Quemoy and Matsu merely for the asking. He said, "It is doubtful this would serve either the cause of peace or the cause of freedom." Nothing, in so many words, was final in what he said.

Houston County Assessor Starts

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Houston County's first assessor took office Wednesday. He is Arnold Renslo, 46, a native of Caledonia and former assistant cashier at the Sprague State Bank.

He replaces Miss Dolores Hauge, now county auditor, and will serve the remainder of her four-year appointment which ends Dec. 31, 1956. She and his other predecessors were all supervisors of assessments. As assessor, Renslo will be more directly responsible for the county assessment and will be required to keep certain tax records formerly kept by the auditor.

Renslo is a graduate of Caledonia High School and Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. He taught commercial subjects at the Mondovi Wis., and Caledonia schools before entering the farm implement and feed business here several years ago. Later he sold his interest in the implement firm and joined the bank staff. He is a past president of the Caledonia Commercial Club and retired recently as the chairman of the board of Immanuel Lutheran Church here. He is married and has two sons, Lloyd, 12 and Paul, 8.

Hula Girls Dress Up Legislature Opening

HONOLULU (U)—Hawaii's first Democratic Legislature convened at Iolani Palace yesterday and the hula girls outnumbered the flowerbedecked legislators.

Spring flowers covered desk tops and spilled onto the floor as six singing hula troupes danced and swayed through House and Senate chambers under powerful television lights.

A tourist commented, "It looks like a cross between a florist's fire sale and funeral."

Actress' Death Called Accidental

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (U)—An accidental overdose of barbiturates was blamed for the death last Sunday of actress Abigail Adams, former fiancée of comedian George Jessel.

Dr. Alexander Griswold, assistant autopsy surgeon, said yesterday that poison tests showed the presence of alcohol, seconal and ethynyl in her body. Police Chief C. H. Anderson said the death will be listed as accidental.

Her body was taken to Charlotte, N. C., for funeral services tomorrow.

Keller Construction Firm to Complete Job in 300 Days

Contracts totaling $206,206 have been awarded to three Winona firms for the construction of a new fire station at East 3rd and Laird streets.

The contract awards were made to the low bidders in three construction classifications at a special meeting of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners Wednesday night.

The contract for general construction went to the Keller Construction Co., Winona (successor to the H. B. Kilstofte Construction Co.), on its net proposal of $163,381. This was about $1,500 under the net bid, including two alternates, of the Johnson Construction Co., also of Winona.

The Sanitary Plumbing & Heating Co., was low among five bidders for the mechanical contract which totals $35,425.

The electrical contract went to the Bauer Electrical Shop on a bid of $7,399.

The architect's fees for the project will amount to about $12,300. The total construction price — exclusive of the amount to be paid for the installation of the fire alarm board — is under the original estimate of the construction cost.

It was estimated late last year on the basis of plans and specifications prepared by the architect that the building would cost in the neighborhood of $225,000.

300 Days to Complete
In its bid Keller specified that it would complete its contract within a period of 300 days after the awarding of the contract.

The lowest base bid was Johnson's $161,616 as compared with Keller's $161,649.

However, Keller's figures on two alternates for the substitution of glazed tile for brick in four rooms, a stairway and the hose drying room and face tile for plaster in five areas resulted in a lower net bid.

The other general contractors bidding on the job with their net bids (base bids are in parentheses) were:

WMC, Inc., Winona, $154,430 ($164,269); P. Earl Schwab, Winona, $189,384 ($183,414); Pavak Construction Co., St. Paul, $172,473 (no bids on alternates); Viking Construction Co., $182,030 ($179,845); and Theodore J. Malzahn & Sons, Inc., LaCrosse, $181,438 ($180,257).

Mechanical bids, in addition to Sanitary's, were:

Frank O'Laughlin Plumbing Co., Winona, $36,275; Charles J. Olsen & Sons, $43,688; American Plumbing Co., Winona, $39,123; and Winona Plumbing Co., $41,560.

Winona Electric Construction Co., with a proposal of $7,735 was the only other electrical bidder.

The contracts were awarded with very little discussion Wednesday night's one-hour board meeting.

After all of the bids had been opened the board conferred with four representatives of the architectural firm of Ellerbe & Co., St. Paul, which drafted plans and specifications for the project.

The architects agreed that the bids appeared to be favorable and Board President Clement Gostowski then asked for a motion for acceptance of the low bid in each case.

The motion was passed unanimously and the contracts were awarded.

County School Board Officers Set Up Group

LEWISTON, Minn. — A Winona County School Officers Association was formed here Wednesday night and officers were elected pending approval of the entire eligible membership by a mail poll.

The action came after a talk by Mrs. Leonard Rollins, Weaver, president of the state school board officers. She asked that officers of the Winona County districts reply to a state organization mail poll now in progress in a fashion which supports action of the recent state convention, when several school bills were rejected by vote of the delegates present.

The local association was formed without a dissenting vote from the 115 school officers present representing 52 common school districts.

C. A. Hedlund, Gilmore Valley, was elected president; Harold Pfeil, St. Charles, vice president; and Edwin Greethurst, Wiscoy Valley, secretary. Cards will be sent to officers of the more than 100 districts of the county for approval or disapproval of the new association.

Officers met Wednesday night to discuss pending school legislation now before the state lawmakers. Many of the proposals, including re-enactment of the school reorganization law, increased state aids, dissolution of school districts closed more than two years, annexation of districts with less than 25 pupils to a secondary district and appointment rather than election of county superintendents of schools were voted down by the convention early this month.

Following the convocation, the state board of directors voted to poll all of the state school officers in an effort to overthrow convention action on these proposed laws.

The local meeting was held to counteract this board move, a county district officer said today.

Winonans Watch Area Legislators At Capitol Work

By ROBERT EGGLESON
Daily News Staff Writer

ST. PAUL—Winona's vital interest in matters before the Minnesota Legislature was brought to the State Capitol Wednesday by a representative group of over 30 citizens who attended legislative sessions in the afternoon and served as hosts to about 20 senators and representatives of the 1st Congressional District during a social hour and dinner at Hotel St. Paul in the evening.

For the Winona delegation, the trip provided an opportunity to see their senators and representatives in action, and the members of the Legislature welcomed the opportunity to discuss bills coming before them with their constituents.

Rep. C. G. Langley, Red Wing, said during the evening banquet, "If there was ever a session when we feel the need of this type of contact, it is this 1955 meeting. We sometimes feel incapable in coping with the problems before us, particularly those of finances, and we are pleased to see that you people are interested enough to make this trip to St. Paul."

"No Ax to Grind" Although legislative "shop talk" dominated most of the discussion during the evening, one of the guest legislators observed that "no one had an ax to grind." The delegation's trip, under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce's governmental affairs committee, drew a wide representation of citizens from Winona and included the president of the D & D (Dakota and Dresbach) Unity Club.

The group, traveling by bus, arrived in St. Paul shortly before 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and after a hurried lunch, dispersed to committee rooms, offices and legislative chambers within the Capitol, according to their interests.

Some attended a meeting of the Senate's general legislation committee, where Sen. J. R. Keller of Winona presided over consideration of a proposed bill to regulate and license real estate brokers and salesmen. The bill, already approved by the House of Representatives, was introduced by Sen. Val Imm, Mankato.

Senate committee sessions continued through the afternoon while the House of Representatives was meeting.

Rep. A. I. Johnson, Benson, House speaker, presided during the early part of the House session, as the representatives cast ballots on legislation introduced and discussed during previous meetings.

Then for committee-of-the-whole session, he called upon Rep. John D. McGill of Winona to preside. It was McGill's first role as presiding officer.

There was little fiery discussion during the afternoon over bills that would require grading of milk and butter in the state.

Before beginning official matters Wednesday, the representatives heard Herbert J. Taylor, president of Rotary International, outline Rotary's four-way test and he advised the legislators to apply the test to all they think, say and do both in public and private life.

The four questions in the test are: Is it the truth, is it fair to all concerned, will it promote good will and will it be beneficial to all concerned?

At the end of the afternoon, the group assembled at the St. Paul Hotel for a social hour and the dinner that followed.

Toastmaster of the evening was S. J. Kryzsko, chairman of the C. of C. governmental affairs committee. He called upon Sen. Keller to introduce members of the Senate attending: Sens. John A. Johnson, Preston; Robert R. Dunlap, Plainview; Walter Burdick, Rochester; Rudolph Hanson, Albert Lea; Harold S. Nelson, Owatonna; Albert H. Quile, Dennison; Ralph L. Mayhoad, St. Cloud, and Sen. P. J. Holand, Austin.

Holand, unintentionally omitted among the senators introduced, countered with "I didn't think the Southern Minny (baseball) rivalry had begun this early in the year," Sen. Keller said. Sen. Holand "shouldn't hide behind the lady."

He referred to Mrs. Eugene Lund, Wabasha, elected to the House last fall. She was the only woman among the 60 present.

Introduction of members of the House was in charge of Rep. McGill, who recognized Reps. Teman Thompson, Lanesboro; Moppy Anderson, Preston; Lloyd L. Duxbury, Caledonia; Mrs. Lund; Leo D. Madden, Ely; Jacob Herzog, Austin; John Hartl; Owatonna; A. O. Sundet, Faribault; Oscar Peterson, Yellow Medicine, and Graham Fuller, Ivanhoe. Rep. Donald McLeod, as one of the host legislators, welcomed the group.

Among those introduced by C. of C. Secretary-Manager A. J. Anderson were: Nick Jersek, Charles Mullaney, A. Grant Burleigh, Brother Baldwin (St. Mary's College), William P. Theurer, Howard A. Baumann, H. J. Busdicker, W. W. Tolleson, Harold E. Schultz, George E. Kelley, Byron White, C. D. Tease, L. Robert Prondzinski, E. W. Miller, Dr. Nels Minne, Dr. M. Raymond, G. E. Fishbaugh, Eugene Sweeney, Carl Aune, Philip A. Baumann, Dr. W. O. Finkelnburg, Dr. Judd Frederiksen, William M. Hardt, Walter Hege, E. J. Slevens, Louis Drussell, S. D. J. Brusk, M. J. Galvin and George Meyer, superintendent of the White-water Game Refuge, and Roy Swett, Dakota.

Kryzsko then called upon C. of C. President Lester O. Peterson who discussed the group's "good will venture" and then cited the importance of cooperation between business and government.

"The businessman who fails to acquaint himself with the operation of good government on all levels," Peterson said, "is actually giving away control of his business. Business and government cannot operate without each other."

College Discussed

He cited the value of educational institutions like Winona State Teachers College, which draws about 83 per cent of its students from a 75- to 100-mile radius. He also emphasized the need for good highways, good farm-to-market roads and other factors that will aid in the industrial expansion required of a "progressive" employment by itself.

Peterson continued, explaining that at a national workshop in Des Moines, Iowa, recently, it was pointed out that industry now can draw upon the labor force from a wide surrounding area. It was also noted that to improve transportation, industry does not require locations near the source of materials but can be located near the market.

Winona's official good will ambassador, Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer, was just that Wednesday night. During his brief remarks, he joyfully amused the group with a series of stories fitting the occasion.

At one point, the mayor said, "I'm talking for the benefit of the lady (Mrs. Lund) because Rep. McGill told me to say something about her." He had earlier commented that the addition of women to governing bodies was a sign of progress because "the ladies spend 75 per cent of our money and do 85 per cent of our thinking and either strongly influence or entirely regulate our voting whether we know it or not."

After the formal program, various legislators spoke informally to the group.

Doctor Beginning Lake City Practice

LAKE CITY, Minn. — Dr. D. W. Sontag, Sleepy Eye, Minn., has become associated with Drs. E. C. Bayley and B. A. Fiesche.

A corpsman in the Navy during World War II, Dr. Sontag is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and completed his internship at the Long Beach, Calif., veterans hospital.

His wife is a graduate of the University of Minnesota School of Nursing and has been a public health nurse in Dakota County and in Los Angeles.

Legislative Matters Past and present were discussed by this group during the gathering of Winonans and members of the Minnesota Legislature Wednesday night at St. Paul. One of the veteran legislators present was Sen. John A. Johnson, Preston, left, who was first elected to the Legislature in 1921. Next to Sen. Johnson is S. J. Kryzsko, chairman of the Winona Chamber of Commerce's governmental affairs, while Sen. J. R. Keller and Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer are at the right.

Cerney Named Car Foreman

Actual production got under way in August, but the program has reached its peak during the last three months when two cars have been completed every working day.

Cerney said that there is every indication more work will be assigned on completion of the hopper program. A total of 230 are employed in the car department.

Two of Cerney's sons, both journeyman welders, also are employed in the car department. Bernard Jr. is presently an acting foreman. The other is Charles R. Cerney, Mr. and Mrs. Cerney have four other children.

Witness Surprises Lawyer in $200,940 Suit Over Collision

ROCHESTER, Minn. — A witness for the man bringing a $200,940 accident suit testified — to his attorney's surprise — that the defendant's truck was wholly on its side of the road when the collision occurred.

Earl Atkinson, Rochester, was following a car driven by plaintiff Elmer A. Saterdalen, Minneapolis, when the Saterdalen car collided with a truck driven by James E. Schreiber, Osseo, Minn., on Highway 14 near here Aug. 12, 1953.

Saterdalen, whose arm was amputated, is suing Schreiber in District Court here.

Atkinson was being questioned by Saterdalen's attorney when he made the surprise testimony.

Raymond Weiland, the attorney, protested and appealed to District Judge Arnold A. Hatfield for a ruling on admissibility of the evidence.

Weiland claimed that Atkinson had given a different version previously. On cross-examination, Atkinson said that he had not.

Mrs. Saterdalen denied in her testimony that a few days after the accident she had said that "we were a little over on the left side of the centerline."

Canton Youth, 15, Fractures Skull As Car Tips Over

CANTON, Minn. (Special) — James Kelly, 15, Canton, is in good condition with a fractured skull at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, today as a result of an auto accident on the outskirts of the village shortly after midnight today.

With him when his car went off a ditch was Lois Stegen, 16, Spring Grove, who was treated at the Harmony Hospital for facial cuts and bruises.

Fillmore County Sheriff Donald Cook, who investigated the crash, said today that Kelly lost control of his auto on the west edge of town and went off the road. His car is a total wreck, according to the officer.

Evers was following another car which slowed down suddenly before making a left turn off the highway.

In an effort to avoid a collision with the car ahead of him, Evers turned out and his car and the oncoming Behns car collided.

U.S. Failing In Sales Job, Students Told

"We've got the greatest product in the world to sell and we're failing in our job," said Carl T. Rowan, college education reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune, as he spoke on today's problems in India to St. Mary's College students this morning. He spoke at the College of Saint Teresa this afternoon.

Rowan has recently completed a 52,000-mile tour of India, is author of the book, "South of Freedom," and in 1953 was chosen by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the country's 10 outstanding young men.

Summing up a crying need for education of the peoples of Asia, Rowan said, "I think we're losing the propaganda battle in Asia, because as an Asian sees it, Communism is bold, heroic and revolutionary, while democracy is self-satisfied, apologetic and continually supports the status quo."

Development, Dignity
Rowan, after recalling how he'd seen the drought, poverty, ignorance and suspicion in contemporary India, said that he believes "what India needs is the two-deal program — development and dignity."

Development-wise, Rowan declared that "only Asia can develop itself—we can't do it for them, but we can show them how."

"There is a gigantic revolution going on in India and the rest of Asia," said Rowan. "And the basic ingredient in that revolution is nationalism—or non-colonialism. Contrary to public opinion, that basic ingredient is not Communism; for it will always be there."

"We must convince the peoples of India that we stand behind them in their desire for self-government."

Asian Solidarity
Second part in a three-fold recipe for the revolution going on in India is "racial pride or Asian solidarity," he theorized.

"Too many people over there believe that imperialism is a synonymous term with white westerners; they cannot realize—without some education—that the world has made up solely of good ones and bad ones—not a worldwide clash of varying races, creeds and colors."

Pointing up one of the biggest propaganda problems existing now in Asia, Rowan said, "They don't believe that Americans practice the democracy they preach."

He said, "They look squarely at the U.S. and condemn us for the racial discrimination found in our Rotary, Kiwanis and other service groups here."

"They see discrimination operate not only in government stations in Asia, but in other U.S. outposts throughout the world. That is why they say we don't practice the toleration we preach, and they in turn will not tolerate other groups within their own country."

Tremendous Poverty
Finally, Rowan cited the "tremendous poverty of India," as a third ingredient in the recipe for revolution now going on.

"The poverty is unbelievable," he recalled. "I found that many of my letters to my wife and to my office were not reaching the U.S. and asked an official why."

"He told me that there was 31 cents in stamps on each letter and advised me that the stamps had been stolen somewhere between the depository and the embarkation point, and added that the 31 cents represented an entire day's wages to many Indians."

Appeal of Communism
Pin-pointing the Communist appeal, Rowan said, "There is an ideal situation for the Communists. But don't make this mistake—the Communists don't just go after the impoverished—they need the intelligentsia too, and we must convince those people that we stand behind them in their search for nationalism."

Summing up, Rowan estimated that "happily though, there are Americans of courage—who are not purveyors of bigotry and discrimination in Asia; the question is, are there enough of them?"

"The greatest single force in combating Communist propaganda in Asia is you and I facing up to our individual responsibilities right here at home."

We wonder who that bachelor is who keeps insisting on naming hurricanes after women.

Western Union Loss Raised Up to $1,360

Additional Checks Missing From Office, Examination Shows

An inspection of company records today resulted in the revision of the loss in a Tuesday afternoon holdup at the Western Union office, 66 W. 4th St., upward from the original estimate of $500 to $1,360.

The larger figure stems from the determination that a number of American Express Travelers' Checks in $10 and $20 denominations were in the folder containing the 10 $50 checks the lone gunman who held up two employees of the office escaped with.

The number of checks in the folder was not known immediately and the loss was not definitely established until a complete check had been made of all travelers checks issued recently at the office.

These, then were checked against the travelers checks which had been received from the Minneapolis office.

It was reported that the number of checks on hand here was unusually high; that ordinarily smaller amounts are kept on hand.

Twenties and Tens
The inventory indicates that in addition to the 10 $50 checks there were $400 in $10 denominations and $460 in $20 checks.

Chief of Police A. J. Bingham, meanwhile, reported today that his staff is compiling additional information regarding the holdup man who entered the Western Union office at about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

He said Const. Assistant Chief of Police Everett Laak and Detective George R. Meyers have spoken to a number of persons in the city who have reported seeing in various bars in the downtown district Tuesday afternoon a man whose description tallies with the one given by the Western Union employees of the gunman.

Chief Bingham said that police Wednesday evening interviewed the last customer at the Western Union office before the holdup was staged.

Rushford Man There
He is Melvin Mierau, Rushford, who was sending a telegram at the time the holdup man entered the office.

Mierau said that he was standing at the counter but did not hear the door of the office open. Suddenly, he said, he heard a stirring movement behind him and, turning quickly, he saw a man standing directly behind him.

Mierau said that the other man said, "Hi," but then turned his head and appeared to be avoiding looking directly at Mierau.

The Rushford man said that as he prepared to leave the office he heard the other customer ask to purchase $500 in travelers checks and Mierau said that his attention was attracted by the large figure mentioned.

Before he left, Mierau said, he glanced at the telegraph order form being used by the other customer and recalled that he was somewhat surprised at the fact that although the other customer had been there then for some time and presumably was preparing to send a telegram there were only a few words written near one of the corners of the blank.

Looked Like Right Man
Mierau said, however, that the appearance of the other man was such that "it was like a man who could buy that many checks."

Mierau said that he left the office before the clerk brought the checks to the other man and added that he did not notice a car—either double parked or with its motor running—anywhere in the immediate vicinity of the office.

The Rushford man's description of the other customer was similar to the one given earlier by the two telegraph office employees.

He said that the other man's hair was dark, combed straight back and that he did not have a particularly noticeable growth of beard except for under the nose where it appeared that he might be growing a mustache.

Kept Head Turned
Mierau said that the stranger kept his head turned to the side most of the time he was in the office so he could not give any additional description.

Japan's Labor Unions Power For Democracy

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's labor movement, born nine years ago in the bitter aftermath of surrender, has grown into a tough young giant ready to exploit its strength.

With nearly six million members, it stands today as one of the most powerful—and perhaps controversial—factors in Japan's new democracy.

Its unions promote many shades of political thinking. They often are more concerned with political than economic goals, at least one leader has a labor government as his ultimate objective.

Many in Japan feel that organized labor is a major bulwark against a return to the military-Fascist type state that led Japan to disaster in World War II.

In addition, unions have forced wages upward and made dumping of cheap-labor Japanese goods on world markets less common. Japanese workers receive 47.7 per cent of the national income now compared with 33.3 per cent in 1938. Employers find it more difficult to impose the near-slave-labor conditions that often existed before World War II.

The union movement is in essence a brainchild of the U.S. occupation. Its cornerstone is the trade union law put into effect under U.S. prompting in March 1946. Labor-standard and labor-adjustment laws were passed in the same period.

From that beginning, the few workers who could remember Japan's earlier union movement, ruthlessly crushed by militarists in the early 1930s, drove rapidly ahead.

Communists, many newly freed from prison by the occupation, worked feverishly to gain control. The occupation purged overt Reds from the movement in 1950 and the present major organizations emerged.

They are:

1. SOHYO, the General Council of Trade Unions of Japan, with nearly three million members. It is aligned closely with the Left-wing Socialist party.

2. ZENRO, the All Japan Congress of Unions, with 1,070,000 members. They favor the moderate Right-wing Socialists.

3. SANBETSU, the All Japan Congress of Industrial Unions, a weak, discredited federation considered openly Communist. Membership has fallen from a 1,185,000 peak in 1946 to 13,000 today.

4. Independent, unaffiliated unions with 2½ million members.

In addition, there are an estimated six million unorganized workers.

SOHYO, under the firm, shrewd leadership of Minoru Takano, is considered by far the most influential. The federation has a traditional nonrevolutionary Marxist—but not Soviet Communist—outlook. It claims to be pacifist and to favor neither Russia nor the United States in the world ideological conflict.

Takano may be another matter. He often is considered farther left than his union, but he strongly denies he is pro-Communist. His goal, he maintains, is to improve the welfare of the Japanese.

Takano also is working for a merger of Socialists and Farmer-Laborites into a left-wing front. He talks guardedly of some day electing a labor governor.

Japan's major industrial organizations have watched his program with growing alarm. Hiroshi Goto, secretary general of the Japan Federation of Employers Assns., has said Takano represents a great danger to the welfare of Japan.

Red Wing Terminal Fees Total $27,288 Since Construction

RED WING, Minn.—Fees collected for use of the city's barge terminal at the levee front since it was constructed in 1937 aggregate $27,288.07, City Engineer J. F. Enz, who also serves as the city's wharfmaster, has announced.

The total is $3,402.59 more than the original cost of building the terminal, but does not entirely cover the cost of maintaining it.

The original cost of building the terminal was $23,885.48. Since then additional costs for fill, ballast and rip-rapping totaled $5,909.81 and maintenance up to Dec. 31, 1954, aggregated $692.54, bringing the total cost and maintenance figure for the city to $28,487.83.

Since the terminal was constructed, 271 permits have been issued at fees totaling $27,288.07. Of the latter total $26,456.13 was for imports, $568.99 for exports and $64.95 for storage.

The tonnage of materials handled at the terminal since construction totaled $283,044.46, including 17,339.75 tons of exports and 264,560.21 tons of imports.

Last year, 23,001.10 tons of materials were handled at the terminal and fees totaled $2,225.12. The tonnage figure included 21,501.10 tons of coal imported and 1,500 tons of flour exported. Nineteen permits were issued during the year.

Record Marathon Over at 58 Hours

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Two disc jockeys and the record "Shoggy Boom" ended their publicity marathon yesterday after more than 58 hours.

Bill Elliott and Bill Stanley, staff announcers at radio station WNOE gave up after spinning the record 1,946 times and treated themselves to showers and sleep.

The WNOE went on a 24-hour schedule, broken only by commercials, newscasts and race broadcasts.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Cheese and Fish

Even the biggest crappie, two pounds, caught in this section in quite a while gave way to Wisconsin Cheese at the Jackson County fishing contest at Hatfield Sunday.

Miss Kitty Neal, Alma Center, Jackson County's "Cheese Queen," as the above picture made by James Speltz clearly shows, completely outshone the winning fish.

Ross Ball, Black River Falls, the man in the picture, caught the big crappie and won the top prize of an outboard motor.

Miss Kitty, spent the afternoon serving cheese to the 1,500 people who attended the contest.

The record black crappie, according to Heddon's big fish listings, was a three-pound, eight-ounce one caught a number of years ago. Ball's fish tipped the scales at exactly one-pound, 15½ ounces. It was 14½ inches long. This is a real wow of a crappie.

Sponsored by sportsmen's clubs of Black River, Hixton, Hatfield, Northfield, North Branch and Millston-Knap, the contest staged to raise funds for the county conservation program was deemed a real success. Most of the 1,600 holes drilled in advance were used during the afternoon.

This weekend Mondovi and Eau Claire are extending invitations to fish contest fans. There will be the usual array of prizes and attractions. Fishing in both counties will be for three hours. The Eau Claire event will be on Half Moon Lake.

Waterfowl Violations

A total of 545 waterfowl violations were investigated by law enforcement officers of the Fish and Wildlife Service in the department's Region Three, consisting of the states of North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Nebraska, Missouri, Illinois, Ohio, Iowa and Michigan.

Of this total 421 were duck cases and 550 geese cases. There were 29 coot cases and four whistling swan cases. Commonest violation was shooting after hours for which there were 112 arrests. There were 13 violations of the baiting regulation and 49 wood duck cases. Seventy-one hunters were found hunting waterfowl with unplugged guns.

This, of course, is only a small cross section of the waterfowl violation picture, since the big majority of arrests are made by state wardens and handled in state courts. However, it does show the kind of violations taking place.

The baby may make a face and cry the first few times he is given cod liver oil. But if you give it to him every day, and in the right manner, he will probably soon learn to like it.

One more thing: Don't give the baby the idea you don't like it by making a face. He might sense your attitude and learn to dislike it, too.

Workers Ask Help In Controlling Family

MALACCA, Malaya (AP)—The Dunlap Malayan estates, biggest rubber growers in Malaya, are introducing birth control for 11,000 Chinese, Indian and Malayan workers and their families.

"The idea is not ours. Workers on our village committees asked us to help them control the size of their families."

ing spot had its quota of fishermen.

From the highways, they looked like black dots on the snow-covered ice that reflected in the sun. Many of the fishermen drove their cars onto the ice. Others, tracks in the snow showed, had hiked long distances to reach isolated sloughs where panfish had been hitting.

Lake Pepin was a popular spot with a lot of the inland fishermen. Most of the fish houses were in operation and fishermen were scattered over the lake fishing from their cars which they had driven on the ice. Incidentally, the road across Lake Pepin from Lake City to Stockholm has been plowed and is a streak of clear glistening ice.

Kitten Stalls Police Squad Car 3 Hours

CHICAGO (AP)—A kitten stalled a police squad car for three hours last night.

The animal was trapped under the squad car's hood in an almost inaccessible recess under the right front fender. Policemen Joseph Cunningham and Kenneth Freyer tried to lure it out with catnip, but with no success.

Allen Glisch of the Animal Welfare League was called. Finally, it was necessary to remove the car's oil pan before he could rescue the animal.

Police said they had no idea how the kitten got under the hood.

No Business Advice For Marilyn Monroe

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Marilyn Monroe often dines at the Petie Couvee restaurant. The owner does not offer her any business advice. "When I was a boy in school, I could never divide three numbers," he told her recently. "Now that I am a successful businessman, all that is changed. Now I cannot divide two numbers!"

Monroe, seeing my crew-cut the first time, many people say, "Oh, you have a haircut just like your son Sluggers." Actually, when he saw what his dad looked like in a crew-cut, he let his hair grow.

After Toots Shor was on Ed Murrow's "Person to Person," he got calls from close friends everywhere. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick merely said: "Hi, Hamlet!" Movie-maker Leo McCarey phoned from Hollywood: "Let me speak to your wife. It's Friday and I can't talk to you today I'm not allowed to have anything to do with ham."

Murrow visited Shor's home

afterward and related how Fred Allen had asked whether he had been invited on the show. "Yes," said Allen, "but Ed's never asked me to his house—why should I invite him to mine?"

"Jack Benny goes to sleep blessing his countings"—Robin Rustic, Walton, N. Y. Reporter . . . "March is when a man goes into his tax report like a lamb and comes out a-lyin'!"—Maj. Art—Frank, Dayton, O.

Ingrid Bergman, Roberto Rossellini, three children, two nurses, one cousin and one assistant are in Stockholm for Ingrid's "Joan of Arc" at the Royal Opera—her first appearance in Sweden since Hollywood. She gets $1,400 a night.

When she went to the opera as a spectator, many eyes were on the Royal Box—but the eyes of everybody in the Royal Box were on Ingrid Bergman.

Song Star Betty Ann Grove's grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hanson, 84, of Cambridge, Mass., is hard at work plugging Betty Ann's first record, "I Had a Heart When I Came In."

"Grandmother walks a mile to a diner every day," says Betty Ann—whose record just won the Brascars for Exquisite Form on discs. "She plays the jukebox for hours and hours, but only my record."

Mrs. Hanson also stops people on the street, asks them the time, then says she must hurry to watch her granddaughters—thus getting them to ask who her granddaughter is and what program she's on. We nominate her for the most partial grandmother yet.

"Suppose you already know," writes Terry Hendricks, of St. Paul, "that the Russian government gave Malenkov a car for a going away present—a 'Liquid Eight'."

Ex-President of Panama Held for Trial in Murder

PANAMA (AP)—Ex-President Jose Ramon Guizado must stand trial March 21 on homicide charges in connection with the machine-gun slaying of his predecessor in office, President Jose Antonio Remon.

The National Assembly voted 48-1 to indict Guizado during a four-hour session last night highlighted by an impassioned declaration of innocence from the accused. The Assembly is the only body which can try a president. If convicted, Guizado could be sentenced to a prison term of from 10 to 20 years.

Guizado's outburst came as special prosecutor Jose de la Vega told the lawmakers he would prove at the trial that the price for killing Remon was between $75,000 and $80,000, part of which was paid by Guizado.

Rising from his seat in the hall and gesturing with both hands, Guizado shouted into an Assembly microphone:

"What is being done to me is the greatest infamy in the world. It is an infamous plot. I am innocent. I swear it by God and before the graves of my parents."

Remon was machine-gunned Jan. 2 as he chatted with friends in a pavilion at the Juan Franco race-track, four miles from the city. Guizado, the first vice president, was sworn in as president six hours later.

The Assembly impeached Guizado and ordered his arrest Jan. 15 after Ruben Miro, an attorney, confessed the actual killing and said the plot was carried out with Guizado's full knowledge.

FBI Agent Speaks To Fathers, Sons

FBI agent Robert L. Carlson, Rochester, spoke to about 80 men and boys of McKinley Methodist Church at the annual father and son banquet Wednesday night.

He cited the need for special agents at this time, noting that college graduates from 24 to 40 who can stand a thorough investigation of their background and who are willing to work hard for $5,000 annually are invited to make application.

His talk centered around the training program and system of the Department of Justice, the crime laboratory in Washington, D.C., and how a typical bank robbery was solved several years ago.

"Take care of these little guys," he told the fathers referring to the youths who were present. "If they're given love and care now you won't have to worry about them later." He also cited need for cooperation of every citizen with the FBI.

Devotions were led by Charles Flanagan; the Rev. Clare Karsten gave the invocation and benediction and played accompaniment for hymn singing. Earl Gilbert, president of the Men's Club, was master of ceremonies. Women of the WSCS, Mrs. Earl Laufenberger president, prepared and served the meal.

25 Wisconsin Counties Added to Minneapolis Small Business Office

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Four area counties are included in a group of 25 Wisconsin counties that will be affected by a change in the boundary of the area served by the regional office here, it was announced today by Robert C. Ferderer, regional director of the Small Business Administration.

Affected are Trempealeau, Buffalo, Pepin and Eau Claire counties. Ferderer said that effective March 1, the Minneapolis regional office will assume service to the counties, in addition to the entire upper peninsula of Michigan. These areas had previously been under the jurisdiction of the Chicago and Cleveland regional offices.

At the same time, said Ferderer, the Minneapolis office will transfer to the Seattle region the entire state of Montana, which was formerly under the jurisdiction of his office.

Ferderer added that the boundary changes are in line with the SBA's policy of providing production, lending, procurement, technical and management assistance to small firms at offices located as nearly as possible to the normal trade areas of those firms.

Under the new arrangement, Region VIII, Minneapolis, will include Minnesota, North and South Dakota, northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan.

Freedom Crusade Deserves Support

With the strong endorsement of Pres. Eisenhower, the Crusade for Freedom has launched its 1955 campaign for funds. A private organization supported by Americans, it operates Radio Free Europe and the Free Europe Press and is in an excellent position to bring to the satellite countries truths that Soviet propaganda is intended to suppress or distort.

During the past year the Crusade for Freedom's penetration of the Iron Curtain has scored some dramatic successes. A leaflet-bearing balloon barrage, launched over Czechoslovakia in the spring, was sufficiently effective to provoke a denunciation from Pres. Zaptotoky. A similar one, launched some months later over Hungary, drew an angry note from the Hungarian foreign ministry. A radio campaign against police-state methods in Poland may have played a large part in the demotion of the Polish minister of security.

The Free Europe Press has called attention in recent months to the ill success of post-Stalin Soviet policies in the satellite countries. The "new course," adopted in June 1953, was intended to favor agriculture and the production of consumer goods rather than heavy industry; yet evidence from Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary indicates that the benefits expected from such a move have not materialized, and that severe economic crises have resulted.

Malenkov's fall has been attributed in large part to the failure of his agricultural policy; it is no wonder that after the fall Radio Free Europe made the most of its opportunity and broadcast the question "Who will be next?" to the satellite capitals.

The task of the Crusade for Freedom is necessarily a delicate one. No one knows when liberation will come, or how, or by whom, as General Walter Bedell Smith pointed out at the opening of the drive.

All we know, now, is that it is bound to come. The faith of the captive peoples in that eventual coming must be sustained, and their courage upheld. Contributors to the Crusade for Freedom will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have helped in the realization of that aim.

Actions Not Words Will Find Us Ready

Premier Nikolai Bulganin, in an interview with William Randolph Hearst Jr., the first he has ever granted to Western newsmen, said that the Soviet Union has a sincere desire for peace. He also said that it would be useful if government officials made fewer statements which tend to whip up sentiment against other countries.

If the Soviet is sincere, as Premier Bulganin says it is, there is no reason why world tension cannot be eased and a period of real peace ensue. But the Russians will have to demonstrate their desire for peace with actions rather than words. We have been watching their actions contradict their words for too long to take hope at the utterance of a few pleasant phrases.

If Russia wants peace, let its leaders persuade the Chinese Communists to maintain the peace in Asia, to forego the invasion of Formosa. Let the Reds give agreement to a sensible peace treaty for Austria, a workable arrangement for maintaining the peace in Korea. Let the Communists in the Kremlin call off their agents in all the free countries of the world.

The United States wants peace, will go to any honorable length to secure it. If the Soviet Union wants to conduct honest negotiations to ease world tension, it will find us ready. But it must approach such negotiations with concrete proof that the intentions are really peaceful.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

I never quite believe the stories I hear about boners pulled on high school examination papers, but even if this one isn't quite true, it bears repetition:

"One beautiful evening in 1852 Queen Elizabeth entered Coventry, and after removing all her clothes, rode through the streets astride a snow-white stallion.

"On her way, she bumped into Sir Walter Raleigh who was embarrassed by her appearance and threw his cloak around her, crying, 'Honi soit qui mal y pense' which means 'Thy need is greater than mine.'

"The Queen graciously responded, 'Dieu et mon droit' ('My God, you're right').

"The entire incident is known as the Magna Charta."

Eye-catching typographical error in a Maine weekly: "Mrs. Buzz Bentley, out deer hunting with her husband, bagged a buick at 200 feet."

The proverbially crusty Harold L. Ickes was stopped one day on his way to an im-

These Days

Neutral Commission Urged for Formosa

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — In the great welter of news from all parts of the world, items are missed which are of tremendous importance. This is one I missed.

On Dec. 4, 1954, it was reported by the (exchange) Telegraph from Delhi that India had a plan to neutralize Formosa. The report said that Prime Minister Nehru of India was seeking diplomatic reactions to a proposal that Chiang Kai-shek be removed and that Formosa be taken over by an international commission of neutral powers.

"The proposal carries an offer by India to serve on the commission and provide custodian troops for an agreed period, possibly of from 3 to 5 years. The Indian plan calls for a plebiscite at the end of that period to decide whether Formosa should be handed over to Communist China or remain under the administration of a neutral commission."

"THE (EXCHANGE) TELEGRAPH correspondent says India has reason to believe that Communist China is favorably disposed to the plan provided that Britain and America are not represented on the proposed commission."

It is not known what has become of this proposal. In British circles it is reported that Nehru has had a change of heart and is no longer as pro-Communist China as he formerly was. At any rate, the suggestion that a neutral commission consisting of India, Poland and Sweden take over Formosa has been banded about. It is interesting that, as this suggestion goes, the Soviet Universal State has one representative on it, Poland, but the United States has none. Yet the United States is the principal factor in the Formosan situation, more important than Chiang Kai-shek and his government who now are creatures of and dependent upon the United States.

If Indian troops occupy Formosa what is to become of Chiang Kai-shek's army there? Is there to be a war between Indian troops and Nationalist troops? How is Chiang Kai-shek to be removed? Will they carry him out of his office the way Sewell Avery was? Will they put him in a bamboo cage and ship him to Chou En-lai and Mao Tse-tung?

What will happen in Formosa while the Indians are removing Chiang Kai-shek? My guess is that if anybody tried it, there would be such a massacre as has never before been witnessed. Again, the racial question will arise. Whereas to many Americans and Europeans all the peoples of Asia are alike, to a Chinese, a Hindu is a very different kind of person and one not favorably thought of. And it is also true vice versa.

THERE IS ANOTHER POINT here: If the Nehru idea were to be considered seriously, what would become of the treaty just ratified by the Senate between the United States and Formosa? Does not that treaty obligate the United States to defend Chiang Kai-shek and his government? Would the United States have to go to war with India over Nehru's proposal?

In a word, here is another confusing factor in an already chaotic situation that could lead to war. Nehru may have changed his mind about all this, as the British say he has, but the fact that he could entertain this notion as recently as last December indicates that important statesmen felt free to devise means to eliminate the United States from the Western Pacific. For that is what the Nehru proposal in essence meant.

If Nehru has changed his mind, it is only because Communist China is growing so strong that it is frightening its friends. In the Soviet Universal State, whatever progress has been made in territorial expansion since 1949 has been made by Red China and not by Soviet Russia. This cannot have gone unnoticed in the Kremlin.

It was no accident that the Indian government discovered maps issued by the Red Chinese government marking parts of India as Chinese. This is the ancient Chien Lung line, the farthest progress that the Manchu conquerors made in their approach to India. The map includes Nepal, Assam, Bhutan and a corner of Kashmir as Chinese. Neither Nehru nor the Kremlin could have been happy about those maps which were indicative of Red China's imperialistic thinking. This discovery may have helped Nehru change his mind about Formosa. But whatever his opinion may be on the subject, he has not yet indicated that he is averse to Indian troops occupying Formosa and removing Chiang Kai-shek.

Texan Gets Set to Launch Battle Against Monopoly

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It was exactly 20 years ago that the high-powered public relations firm of Carl Byoir was hired by the big chain stores to try to offset the quiet determination of a young congressman from Texarkana, Texas, to pass legislation to protect independent retailers. The young congressman was Wright Patman, and the legislation he passed, despite the carefully organized opposition, was the Patman-Robinson act. Sen. Joe Robinson of Arkansas, the other author of that act, is dead now, but Wright Patman, a little older, though just as determined, is getting ready to launch another battle against monopoly.

The House of Representatives is cutting down on its probes this year, but one probe which Speaker Sam Rayburn is determined should go through is an investigation of the current wave of mergers and discrimination against small business. Cong. Patman will head that committee.

Senate Lags

Originally it was expected that the Senate would stage the big monopoly probe. Now it doesn't look that way.

Sen. Langer, the North Dakota Republican who staged the Sensational Dixon-Yates probe with no money, has been shunted aside by his own fellow Republicans. The Democrats were willing to appoint Langer as chairman of the new monopoly committee, but fellow Republican Wiley of Wisconsin stepped in to block him. Wiley has more seniority than Langer, and Wiley insisted that he come first on the monopoly committee.

That left Sen. Kefauver, Democrat, as the next man in line to handle the monopoly investigation, and jealous fellow Democrats are wary about letting the long, lean Tennesseean get into the limelight with another probe. They remember the headlines he got when he investigated crime. So, though they were willing to let Langer, a Republican, head the monopoly committee, they were not willing to give the job to Kefauver.

Instead, hard-working, overworked Sen. Kilgore of West Virginia will probe monopoly. But while the senators have been sparring for the position, Cong. Patman has already started getting up investigative steam.

Patman Doesn't Lag

"They say we are entering a new period of business expansion," says Patman. "But what we are not told is that small business is not sharing as it should in that expansion. Instead, giant corporations are beginning more profitable, while the smaller corporations are becoming less profitable, drying up, and selling out."

"We cannot expect anything but eventual ruin to free enterprise if all business becomes a privileged monopoly and opportunity for independent business disappears. It is the duty of Congress to help all business, large and small."

"We are not out to destroy big business," says Patman, "but we must not let it destroy our way of life either."

Among other things, Patman plans a searching inquiry into the role that lobbying and large-scale advertising play in fostering monopoly.

"About $7,000,000,000 a year is spent on lobbying in this country, mostly by big business," the Texan estimates. "This is almost equal to the cost of all the civilian functions of the government. Staggering sums are also spent for lobbying, here in Washington and at the grass-roots level, to protect the selfish interests of monopolies. My committee is not against advertising, but we think the American people are entitled to know to what extent advertising and lobbying contribute to the growth of monopoly."

Senate's Champion Wrestler

If you want to live to be 100, take a tip from the oldest member of the Senate, Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island. He doesn't brag about it, but if you pin him down, he'll give you his own formula for keeping young.

It is: Moderate exercise, no smoking, one drink before dinner, none after dinner, and plenty of food. Also he keeps his weight down.

"I don't diet particularly unless I've gained a pound or two," says Green, "then I'm careful to take it off. I've kept my weight at 137 for the last 30 years. Once in a while I get up to 140, but that's the limit. I never go above."

The senator walks to work every morning — a two-and-a-half-mile trip from the University Club to the Capitol. It takes him 45 minutes. Some people kid him about walking to save money. Actually he's one of the wealthiest men in the Senate, but he owns no car, and when he doesn't walk he takes the streetcar.

"The exercise I hated to give up," he says, "was wrestling. That's a great sport."

The senator won't tell you this, but the wrestling instructor at the YMCA tells about a man whom Green had knocked out in a wrestling bout. "Who wants to take on Sen. Green?" the instructor called out. "The senator wants another wrestling partner."

There were no takers.

"How old were you when you gave up wrestling?" I asked.

"Eighty-five," replied the young man from Rhode Island.

'Bleeder' Survives 3 1/2-Hour Operation

DENVER (AP) — "Am I here? Thank God . . . He told me I would be."

Mrs. Doris Grayson was waking from a marathon 3-hour operation late yesterday. For seven months the Weatherford, Tex., mother had known of the impending surgery on her right lung. And she had feared it.

Doctors at National Jewish Hospital describe the 38-year-old woman as a "bleeder" female counterpart of the male hemophiliac. Once she is bruised or starts to bleed, it is difficult to halt the flow.

To complicate matters, her blood is type O negative, found in only 6 per cent of people.

She was admitted to the Denver Hospital last July for treatment of tuberculosis. Doctors found her condition caused her to bleed from the right lung. When other treatment failed, they decided on surgery.

Mindful that certain blood-like Mrs. Grayson's—loses its coagulant factor in 30 minutes after it is taken from the veins, they called for volunteer donors with type O negative.

Denver area Masonic lodges offered help, and those few with the corresponding blood type stood by as Mrs. Grayson went into surgery. Nine donors gave one pint of blood each during the operation. Three others were used later.

Doctors said Mrs. Grayson is "doing satisfactorily."

Why Not Be Your Own Chippendale?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The do-it-yourself craze has reached the point where you can now be your own Chippendale and create antique furniture at home.

"About 60 per cent of the antique furniture in America is a fake—at least so far as being old is concerned," said Gordon Obrig, one of America's pioneer home furnishings and industrial designers.

"Previous generations simply didn't leave behind them enough period furniture to fill the present demand for antiques."

To satisfy this market there arose the practice of what is known in the trade as "distressing a reproduction." It consists of taking a fine new piece of furniture designed on classic lines and deliberately beating it up to give it an antique look.

Artificial Aging

This artificial aging was already quite an art abroad, Obrig recalled, when he was apprenticed at the age of 13 to a London decorator.

"I used to be one of the best wormhole makers in all England," he said modestly.

Obrig abandoned wormhole making long ago. Today in the workroom of his 12-acre estate he designs everything from eggbeaters to Geiger counters. He also enjoys giving tips to young couples on how they can furnish their homes at small expense.

"Often they inherit a few fine pieces of antique furniture," he said. "But they can't afford to buy the additional pieces to fill out a room."

"However, there is no reason why any housewife who wants to live in the atmosphere of the past can't create her own background."

"A housewife actually can do a better job of distressing a reproduction than a professional furniture workman," he said, "she is willing to put more time and hand labor into the task."

Wormy Advice

So if you want to take a $40 table and make it look like a $400 antique, here is what you do:

"First file off the edges to make it look worn. Then take a ring of heavy old keys and slam them on the table top to give it a scratched up look."

"To give the apron of the table a worm-eaten appearance you burn it with hot copper wires. You can also put a few worm holes in the legs, but be careful not to overdo it. If you put in too many worm holes, your new antique may collapse while you're still making it."

"If the table is of oak, you can give it a worn, ridged look by washing it with potash and lye. That'll eat out the soft grain of the fiber."

Obrig has this cautionary advice to people who are genuinely interested in collecting real antiques:

"If the dealer isn't willing to put on the bill of sale the approximate age and source of an antique, you'd do well to go to another dealer."

As it is now, a lot of furniture worms are getting credit for holes they never made.

Automation Won't Hurt Labor Field

By PAUL HARVEY

NEW YORK—President Walter Reuther of the CIO is worried about automation.

That's the science of getting one machine to do the work of several men.

He fears unemployment.

My files show Walter Reuther has a very bad batting average for his pessimistic predictions.

Ever since our pioneers plowed their fields with a crooked stick, a handful of short-sighted men have feared they were going to be replaced by machines.

Automation is not new.

Recent electronics developments have only refined the science . . . improved the system . . . increased the potential.

With the American technological genius for doing things faster and easier we have attained a standard of individual welfare untouched by the 7,000 years and the dozen empires which preceded ours.

I want to tell you about another labor leader who was not afraid of automation.

He was executive Secretary of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union for many years.

Instead of fighting progress, Bill Schnitzler went out of his way to help that industry. To improve automatic baking and cutting and wrapping and packing he encouraged new devices.

The result:

More employees turning out more baked goods at cheaper prices for all of us.

And, in the bargain, conditions in the bake shops were improved. Sanitation . . . better, cleaner working environment.

The only way inflation can be contained is to keep each man's productivity increasing in proportion to his wage.

This is the only way.

Turn down the machines . . . Shut down the automatic ovens . . .

Idle the automatic wrapping devices . . .

Sell the trucks and put your delivery men back on foot . . .

And what happens?

Suddenly it takes a hundred men to produce the loaves of bread which one man now produces.

So each loaf costs a hundred times more.

So fewer people buy bread.

The housewife bakes at home instead . . .

And the gigantic bakeries go out of business . . .

And the job market diminishes.

Surely that's not what Mr. Reuther wants.

For years John L. Lewis insisted on raise after raise for his mine workers, without a corresponding increase in production-per-man, and so coal was priced out of the market and today's widespread unemployment in the coal country is a tragic blot on our present prosperity.

But John L. Lewis asked for it . . . and he knows it . . . and he's trying desperately to make amends for it. He hasn't mentioned "pay raises" for three years!

These men who worry about a machine taking their jobs would still have us building automobiles by hand. In which case only a few rich people could afford them . . . and only a tiny fraction of today's work force would be building them.

Oh . . .

That Bill Schnitzler is now number two man in the AFL. And he's still encouraging, aiding increased mechanization because he has seen the result and the result was good.

Actor, 75, Still Looking for New Parts to Play

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After 75 summers, most men are content to sit on the front porch and watch the world go by.

Not Walter Hampden. At 75 he is leading a vigorous career in movies, TV and the theater. And as a sideline, he is learning Spanish.

The distinguished actor is here to play King Louis XI in "The Yagabond King."

"I came out expecting to play the king as a mean old codger who was too stingy to pay money for fancy clothes," he said. "That's how he has always been played. But they fitted me for some beautiful costumes that weigh 30 pounds, and make me look like Henry VIII."

"I asked the director, Mike Curtiz, about it. 'Waltie,' he said—'he calls me Waltie—'Just play him as your own charming self.'"

So he is. And Hampden couldn't be more pleased. At this phase in his career, he wants to branch into more light comedy, such as he did so delightfully in "Sabrina."

It's refreshing to find an actor looking for new horizons after 54 years of emoting. Although he is more concerned about the future, I managed to get him to reflect on his past too.

"It all began when I played Shylock in a high school play," he recalled. "After that, all I could think about was the theater."

Some people presume that Hampden is British because of his faultless diction and because he came here from the English stage. Like Susan Hayward, Jeff Chandler and that famous tree, Hampden grew up in Brooklyn. After graduating from the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, he went to England to lose his Brooklyn accent.

He landed in a Paris drama school where he showed great promise. But he left it to return to England.

After getting his seasoning on the English stage, he returned to America to become one of the bright stars of the American theater. His most famous role was "Cyrano de Bergerac," which he played over 1,000 times.

Livestock Value Drops 10 Per Cent In State in '54

ST. PAUL (AP)—Minnesota farmers started this year with as many head of livestock as 1954, but the value was $58 million less, or nearly a 10 per cent decline due to falling farm prices.

This was disclosed Wednesday by R. A. Bodin, state-federal crop reporter. A big jump of 20 per cent in numbers of swine on farms to 3,668,000 and a rise in cattle numbers by 39,000 to an all time high of 3,939,000 featured the high livestock inventory.

Included in the inventory were 24,335,000 chickens. Turkeys, mostly hens kept for laying, turned downward 10,000 to a 312,000 total, apparently due to low prices.

Old Dobbin continued to fade from the Minnesota farm scene. There were only 102,000 horses on farms on New Year's Day. That represented a 23,000 drop in one year and a 40 per cent slump in five years.

Sheep numbers slipped another two per cent. The inventory value of all livestock and poultry Jan. 1 was figured at $555,000,000.

EYOTA, Minn. (Special)—The Olmsted County Historical Society this week sent out an areawide request for copies of a newspaper edited and published here more than 50 years ago.

The paper, "The Eyota Grit," was at one time owned and operated by W. C. and Ruth Tufts of Eyota. Two copies—July 23, 1915 and Aug. 23, 1919—have been donated by a niece of the Tufts, but the society seeks more copies.

They have asked that any one wishing to donate other issues notify Bunn T. Wilson, Rochester.

Senate Expected to Vote Pay Increase

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders predicted today the Senate will follow the House lead in voting a substantial pay boost for members of Congress and federal judges.

The House voted 283-118 yesterday to give the 98 senators and 435 representatives a $10,000 annual boost to $25,000. Comparable raises are included for the vice-president, the House speaker, all federal judges and U.S. attorneys.

How They Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The vote Wednesday when the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill boosting the pay of congressmen and federal judges by $10,000 a year included:

Minnesota: For—Blatnik, McCarthy, O'Hara, Agins, Marshall, Wier, Knutson, Andersen, Andersen. Paired against—Judd.

Explaining his vote, Cong. August Andersen of the 1st Minnesota district said: "I don't believe this is the proper time for legislation of this type, especially with falling farm prices and a certain amount of unemployment. Besides, I'm getting along all right."

Cong. Lester Johnson of the 8th congressional district in Wisconsin also voted against the raise.

Wisconsin: For—Reuss, Zablocki, Byrnes, Davis, Van Pelt, Withrow. Against—Johnson, Laird, O'Konski. Absent or not voting—Smith.

Foreign Sub Spotted Off Florida Coast

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Navy plans an investigation to give "proper evaluation" to the reported sighting of an unidentified submarine near Fort Pierce, Fla., Wednesday morning.

Two Coast Guardsmen, sent out to investigate an "orange glow" at sea, reported they approached within "a quarter of a mile or less" of the object about 11 miles southeast of Fort Pierce before they lost sight of it in the early darkness.

At New London, Conn., Lt. Cmdr. Jack Parry, public information officer for Atlantic submarine fleet headquarters said, "It's not ours. We have no submarines operating in that area."

The location would put any undersea craft about 30 miles from the Air Force guided missile base at Cocoa, Fla.

Navy patrol planes were sent out from here but reported they failed to find the object.

Navy spokesmen said witnesses would be interviewed and "every effort made to make a proper evaluation" of the reported sighting.

A native of Graceville, Minn., McFadden worked on several newspapers about the nation after leaving University of Minnesota. He was a reporter on the Milwaukee Sentinel, Chicago Tribune and the Sun and Mirror in New York, among others. He returned to Minneapolis in 1930 as Sunday editor of the former Journal and was assistant managing editor of the Star-Journal when those two papers were merged.

He joined the Times staff in 1942 and was named executive editor four years later. Lately he had been engaged in public relations work. His home was at Hamel, Minn.

Survivors include two daughters. Funeral services are pending.

Freeman's Power Of Arrest Bill Before Senate

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Freeman's version of the power of arrest bill was introduced in the Senate today by Sens. Val Iram, Mankato, Walter Burdick, Rochester and Thomas Vukelich, Gilbert.

A bill introduced earlier by Sen. Harry Wahlstrand, and heard by the Senate Liquor Control Committee, calls for giving state liquor control inspectors the power to make arrests for liquor law violations anywhere in the state.

The measure submitted today would permit a sheriff to grant inspectors arrest powers in his county when he felt he needed help.

This measure has the backing of the state sheriff's association, which has opposed the Wahlstrand bill.

Both proposals are to be considered by the Senate Liquor Control Committee at a special meeting late Friday.

Defense Set to Attack 'Evidence' In Sailor's Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The defense poised today for its attack on state "evidence" that Eugene D. Haas shot or hacked his wife to death and cunningly hid her body.

The prosecution neared the wind-up of its "proof-in-chief" with the testimony of a pathologist that Mrs. Haas' skull bore the marks of four heavy blows and two bullet holes.

Haas, 26, of Frazee, Minn., is charged with murdering his sickly wife in the climax of an unhappy marriage. She was the daughter of Mrs. F. H. Chase of Portsmouth, R. I.

Dr. J. R. Teabeaut, a former FBI pathologist, testified Wednesday on the condition of the skull, which the state says is all over found of Mrs. Haas' body.

Dr. Teabeaut said the skull showed the head was severed from the body by a "moderately sharp and chopping instrument—in other words, a hatchet."

The decomposed head was found by two hunters in a field three miles from the Memphis Naval Air Station Nov. 28—about a month after Haas, a Navy petty officer first class, reported his wife missing.

The defense hammered hard, in cross-examination, on the fact that time of death could not be determined other than that it probably was before Oct. 31. Haas said his wife disappeared Oct. 28.

"Could you tell from your examination of this skull if the bullet wounds were inflicted before or after the death of this woman?" asked L. E. Gwinn, defense attorney.

"I could not," said Dr. Teabeaut. "Could you tell if the skull was severed before or after death of the deceased?"

"I could not."

MACDOWELL CLUB

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The Macdowell Junior Music club will meet this evening at the home of Diane Briggs, with Sharon Sallala as co-hostess.

Peace in The Family arrives with a pre-carved pork roast, stuffed, for the head of the house has no need to fume. He is not confronted with the problem of using a good carving knife to sever a rib bone—particularly at the table before witnesses. This recipe permits the butcher to do the chopping—while skewers hold the chops together to flavor the stuffing properly.

Prepare your dressing while 8 center cut, loin pork chops are browning on both sides in a heavy skillet. Sauté 1½ cups chopped onions (2 to 3 large onions) in 3 tablespoons of butter or margarine until tender and transparent but not brown; add 1 pkg. frozen chopped spinach, thawed and drained; parsley flakes as desired, 3 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon dried basil or savory and 1 clove garlic, chopped fine. Add the onion-seasoning mixture to bread cubes (2 1-lb. loaves, cubed and toasted), and season with ½ cup bourbon. The cooking process "fumes off" the beverage.

After draining off excess fat in skillet, stand one chop, fat side up, in roasting pan. Toss the stuffing, to blend well, then layer it between the chops, skewering the "roast" together. Roast 1½ to 2 hours at 325 degrees (slow oven), or till roast is nicely browned. Remove to heated serving platter and carve by removing skewers at the table.

Mrs. Redmann Presented With Life Membership

A life membership certificate and pin were presented to Mrs. Edward Redmann at the meeting of the Faith Lutheran Missionary Society in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. John Burfield making the presentation. Mrs. Wayne Kirkham, representative of the society to the Winona General Hospital Women's Auxiliary work and Mrs. Kenneth Jungmans, president, presided. The Rev. Webster Clement opened the meeting with prayer.

It was voted that no Lenten tea be held this year, and that a free will offering be taken at the March meeting for the support of Marion Treon Miller, missionary in the United Lutheran Mission Field, Liberia, Africa.

Members of the society read reports from the Women's Missionary Society of the Central Conference of the United Lutheran Church in America. The thank offering secretary, Mrs. Wayne Kirkham, asked the pastor for a prayer after the quarterly thank offering gifts were placed on the table. She also urged members to attend the World Day of Prayer meeting at Central Lutheran Church Feb. 25.

Mrs. Jungmans, program leader of the day, continued the study of "Women of the Old Testament," begun last month by the pastor. She spoke on "Ruth, A National Who Accepted God." She said that "the Book of Ruth presents not only one of the finest stories of the Bible, but also one of the greatest stories to be found in all of the world's literature. The artists, Murillo, Van Dyke, Philip Calderon and several others have portrayed Ruth in their paintings."

She related the story of Ruth from the time that she left Bethlehem with her mother-in-law, Naomi, until the time of her marriage, to Boaz.

She told of the loving relationship between Naomi and her daughters-in-law, and quoted the author's statement, "So beautiful is the love and devotion of Ruth, expressed in this scene, that it seems almost a symbol and a foreshadowing of the love of Christ that will not let us go but follows us all our way."

She also quoted the famous preacher, Dr. George Matheson, who said, "In the soul of Jesus the wedding bells of Ruth and Boaz are rung once more."

At the close of the afternoon, lunch was served by Mrs. R. J. Roth and Mrs. John Wanek, hostesses for the day.

'Taffy-Pulled' Look the Thing In Fashion Now

By IDA JEAN KAIN
Fashion writers are giving fair warning... this spring the middle measurement will have a "taffy-pulled" look. So if you're to swing into spring fashion, better take action now.

That wonderful feeling of suppleness can be yours with a stretchy, a swing and a side-bend. Make it a rhythm slinging routine, for that takes the resistance out of slimmings. When one movement flows into another with no jerkiness, it's like dancing. It is always a help to exercise to music... and feel the rhythm in the willowy bend of the body and the swings.

Warm up with a stretching routine that reaches the lateral muscles bounding sides of silhouette. Make it a long, smooth stretch through the middle measurement, and let the movement flow into a backward arm circle. Circle right arm upward, pointing right toes slightly sideways, and pull along the right side, extending the stretch to the limit and holding for a few seconds. Relax as the arm curves around backwards and swings down. Pull again, this time along the left side. Repeat slowly, four to six times, alternating sides.

Now pivot at the waist. With arms arched overhead, pull slim through the middle measurement, bend sideways, and circle around in front and to the other side and up. Make this a slow, flowing movement, always pulling slim through the middle measurement. Repeat the movement, circling three times in one direction, then three in the other.

To achieve that "taffy-pulled" look, finish with this limbering movement. Standing with feet wide apart, are arched overhead, pull slim through the midsection. The movement is to sway, loose and limber, over to the right, and as you sway, let the right knee bend... sway away over... hold that long stretch. Then swing the trunk up and over to the other side... this time bending the left knee. Sway... and again hold the stretch. It's the most suppling exercise ever.

Of course, if your weight is more than six pounds above desirable, you'll need to skip all second helpings and leave off those fattening desserts. Just those two changes in your menus will bring slimming returns.

Then by putting tone back in the middle muscles, you'll be all set for spring fashions. Send long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for illustrated exercise leaflets for a Slimmer Midriff and Away With Middle Spread. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Winona Daily News. Post card requests cannot be answered.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

It isn't just Wisconsin! Those Michigan congressmen are really on their toes. The senators from that state have not exactly lacked for words of late. And now it appears that the House of Representatives got a good talking-to the other day from the Hon. George A. Dondero (R-Mich.).

His speech concerned the bad manners of his fellow representatives while conducting the business of the United States. And I say he didn't speak out of turn or a minute too soon.

Our distinguished gentlemen of the House were wont to park their size 12 bunions on their desks while mulling over the day's law-making chores. They were, instead, of lending an ear to the dais, catching up on their favorite columnist's deathless prose in the daily newspaper.

They paraded in Latrobe front of the podium without so much as a muttered, "Scuse me, buddy." Even blew cigar smoke in the windpipe of whatever unlucky representative was trying to explain how things were in his bailiwick, and what ought to be done about it.

The gentleman from Michigan objected to his colleagues' habit of familiar address on the floor of the House. None of this—"Hey, George!" and "Knock it off, Jim, John or Jeremiah..." He opines:

"Nice work, George—I mean, Sir, Your Honor, Your Excellency. As you say, good manners may be a small thing, but little things can be very important. Such trifles as preserving the dignity of the House of Representatives, for instance."

Back in those good old days when we didn't have too much to worry about except how many fish Coolidge caught on the Brule River, we had such diversions as a cowboy congressman riding his horse up to the Capitol steps. If memory does not deceive, this gentleman was from my home state, and his methods of distinguishing himself we found less than enchanting. But now that we are worrying for keeps, the august bodies of House and Senate control themselves better in public. And it certainly isn't asking too much for them to extend the same courtesies to their conferees that they demand from the press, the public and even the constituents back home.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Mrs. M. L. Spencer Sr., newly elected president, will be in charge of the meeting.

Age limits, waived for persons entitled to veteran preference are from 18 to 50. Full information and application forms may be obtained at the post office or from the commission's Washington office. Applications must be filed with the commission, Washington 25, D.C., and must be received or postmarked not later than March 15.

Mrs. Hazel W. Wolfe is La Crescent postmistress.

that any man elected to represent the home folks in the halls of Congress is entitled to a bit of respect. Feel free to call me "the distinguished gentleman from Missouri"—not Tom, Dick or Harry.

The Hon. Mr. Dondero was applauded at the end of his trudy etiquette message by the hitherto thoughtless lawmakers. Their hillybilly manners have certainly offended and disillusioned many a visitor to Washington who had rightfully expected some decorum and "representative" behavior from those elected to run the country's business.

Back in those good old days when we didn't have too much to worry about except how many fish Coolidge caught on the Brule River, we had such diversions as a cowboy congressman riding his horse up to the Capitol steps. Legislators Hear Iron Tax Raise Called Gamble

By JACK B. MACKAY
ST. PAUL (U)—Members of the Legislature were told today that "the theory that increasing Minnesota taxes on iron ore can't hurt anybody is nothing but a reckless gamble with the future" of the iron range.

The Duluth Chamber of Commerce distributed a long statement to all legislators opposing Gov. Freeman's recommendation that the occupation and royalty tax rates on iron ore be upped from 11 to 15 per cent which, with the per cent levy for the bonus, will bring the taxes to 16 per cent.

The proposed increase, the Chamber emphasized, is "absolutely contrary to the findings of a bipartisan commission that spent many months studying this matter."

A 16-member Legislative Commission on Taxation of Iron Ore recommended in a report to the Legislature that taxes on iron ore should not be hiked unless the financial condition of the state makes it necessary to increase taxes generally. In that event, the commission suggested the additional taxes "should be spread equitably upon all taxpayers."

Among the 16 senators and representatives were eight conservatives and eight liberals. These included Majority Leader Fred Cina, Aurora, and House Speaker A. I. Johnson, Benson, who have indicated they will "go down the line" in support of the governor's recommendation.

The increases, according to the governor, would yield an estimated eight million dollars for the biennium for the general revenue fund and a similar amount for the permanent education trust fund.

The Duluth Chamber said it views the proposed increase as being "a serious threat to the welfare and development, not only of northeastern Minnesota, but of the whole state."

"If Minnesota is trying to promote industrial expansion, it wishes industry to know that investments in the future of Minnesota are safe," the Chamber said. "The mining industry should receive encouragement and cooperation."

"Instead, as an official welcome to these new investments, it is proposed to increase the occupation and royalty taxes upon this industry by 33.3 per cent to raise half of the deficit in the general revenue fund."

The statement points out that last year steel production in the United States dropped 20 per cent from the 1953 level, and that iron ore shipments from Minnesota dropped 37 1/2 per cent.

North Western Asks To Discontinue Dover Agency, Depot
DOVER, Minn.—A hearing will be held at the North Western Railway depot here at 10:30 a.m. March 10 on the application of the railway and the Railway Express Agency to discontinue agency service here and to remove the depot.

Conducting the hearing will be the Minnesota Railroad & Warehouse Commission.

In seeking authorization to discontinue the depot and agency service, the railway agrees that carload freight service will be continued.

The petitioner alleges that business done at the station is insufficient to warrant the expense of maintaining agency service and the depot, and that the major portion of rail revenue is derived from freight business and that the physical handling and spotting of inbound carload shipments and of empty cars for outbound shipments will continue as at present.

The number of passengers and less than carload freight handled at the station is insufficient to warrant continuance of present services, the petition says.

Scouts, Fathers Attend Dinner at Central Lutheran
Carl Millon, assistant scout executive of the Gamewatch Area Council, spoke to more than 70 Boy Scouts and their fathers at Central Lutheran Church at a meeting of the Brotherhood Wednesday night.

The charter for 1955 was presented to troop 2, sponsored by the church, by Norman Schellhas, area scout commissioner, and was received by Carroll Syversen, institutional representative. It was a dinner meeting held as a celebration of the 45th anniversary of scouting.

Emphasizing the importance of recognizing boys in this atomic age, Millon said adults are at the peak of their service or on the decline while boys are on their way up.

"No man would build for life unless he builds for the future," he said. "Working with boys through troops is our particular way of building for the future and the ideals of scouting are the safeguards against which the destructive forces of the atomic age cannot prevail."

Lloyd Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood, introduced members of the troop committee and various scout leaders who were present. Scouts of the Stockton troop were guests. The meal was prepared by mothers of the boys and was served by the members of the troop.

Committee OKs Bill For State Vote on Constitution Revise
By ADOLPH JOHNSON
ST. PAUL (U)—A bill proposing a vote of the people on the question of calling a convention to revise the state Constitution was recommended for passage today by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The vote was 11-9.

This assures the controversial proposal a hearing on the floor of the Senate.

Several of those who voted for the bill said they did so to make a full Senate debate possible, not necessarily because they favor it.

Backers of the bill said a full revision of the Constitution is necessary to streamline it, make it more workable, eliminate dead timber and clear out provisions which handicap the operation of the state government.

Opponents expressed the fear that many good provisions might be lost in a complete revision. They also said the procedure would be a costly one.

The bill for the amendment needs a two-thirds majority in each house to pass. If it passes, the question of calling a convention would be put to a vote at the 1956 general election. If a majority voted yes, the 1957 Legislature would set up procedures for calling the convention.

Voting to recommend the bill to pass were Donald Fraser, Minneapolis; Arthur Gillen, South St. Paul; Rudolph Hanson, Albert Lea; Harold Kalina, Minneapolis; Joseph Masek, St. Paul; C. C. Mitchell, Princeton; Gerald Mullin, Minneapolis; Harold O'Laughlin, St. Paul and Harold Schultz, St. Paul.

Voting against the motion were Sens. Robert Dunlap, Plainview; Chris Erickson, Fairmont; Dan Feidt, Minneapolis; Archie Miller, Hopkins; Charles Root, Minneapolis; Gordon Rosemeier, Little Falls; Magnus Weffald, Hawley; Thomas Welch, Buffalo; and Donald Wright, Minneapolis.

Sponsors of the bill are Sens. Mullin, Stanley Holmquist, Grove City, and E. L. Andersen, St. Paul. Sen. Mullin led the drive for the bill. Sen. Wright the opposition.

Sen. Nelson said arguments of opponents sounded as if they feared the voters couldn't be trusted.

Pointing out that a revised Constitution would need approval of 60 per cent of the voters, he said he felt it would be "rather presumptuous" to deny voters the chance to ballot on the question of revision.

Sen. Rosemeier, who served as a member of a commission which several years ago studied the question of revising the Constitution, said he still believes revision can be accomplished by submitting separate amendments.

"I see more perils in revision by a convention than hope for good," he said.

Sen. Weffald, who previously has supported the proposal, said success of amendments submitted last November convinced him the separate amendment method was best.

Sens. Hanson and Nycklemoe said they believed the measure was of such importance it should have a full hearing on the Senate floor.

Sen. Feidt was among those who have backed the proposals who voted against it today. He said the reasons now advanced by proponents were "not substantial" and estimated the revision procedure would cost three to five million dollars.

Cpl. Redcloud To Be Buried At Merrilan
MERRILLAN, Wis. (U)—The body of Cpl. Mitchell Redcloud, Jr., Jackson County's first Congressional Medal of Honor winner, will be returned to his home town here for burial.

Redcloud, originally buried in a U.N. cemetery at Sukhoun in North Korea, was killed near Chonghyon, Korea, Nov. 6, 1950, as he single-handedly fought off a Communist attack.

Freeman to Hold News Conference On Tax Legislation
ST. PAUL (U)—Gov. Freeman says he will hold a news conference Friday on the general subject of taxes to review pending legislation in that field.

Freeman said Rep. E. J. Chilton, chairman of the House Tax Committee, and G. Howard Spathe, state tax commissioner, would be among those present.

The governor late Wednesday expressed displeasure over the killing by the House of the bill calling for party labels for legislators. He said the main question should have been discussed on its merits instead of "being killed by crippling, misleading and deceptive amendments."

Freeman recalled that both parties had gone on record for such a bill which was killed this week after an amendment was tacked on including county officials under party tags.

Jobless Pay Bill Passes State House
ST. PAUL (U)—The House passed the measure broadening unemployment compensation coverage to conform with federal standards. As enacted, it will apply to all employers of four or more persons in communities of more than 10,000 population.

Another House-approved bill provides that animals unclaimed in municipal or other dog pounds must be turned over to licensed institutions for research purposes else public funds for support of the pounds would be withdrawn.

Wabasha County Considers Worker In Child Welfare
WABASHA, Minn.—A child welfare worker may be hired by Wabasha County as a result of recent disclosure of juvenile gang activity in the area.

This was revealed by the county welfare board which met Tuesday and discussed the county problem at great length. It was also suggested that the county work out an arrangement for use of the Olmsted County probation officer on a part-time fee basis.

Martin Healy, county attorney, was authorized to contact Olmsted authorities and Enoch Olson, Olmsted probation officer, about the possibility of such an agreement. The executive secretary of the county welfare department was asked to get names of available child welfare workers as possible candidates for the local post. If hired, the worker would be Wabasha County's first child welfare employee.

Senate Approves Retirement Plan For Legislators
ST. PAUL (U)—The Senate Wednesday gave preliminary approval to a bill with the provision permitting members of the Legislature to qualify for retirement benefits under the Public Employees Retirement Plan.

This plan now covers municipal and county employees throughout the state.

Sen. Arthur Gillen, South St. Paul, opposed putting legislators in this plan. He said it would lead to a confusion of interests and urged if there is to be a retirement for legislators that it be set up separately.

The Public Employees Retirement Plan is supported entirely by contributions of public employees, except that cities and counties may be required to contribute if there is a deficit. The state also would assume such an obligation if legislators come under the plan.

The measure, which already has passed the House, will come up for final action in the Senate later this week. If it passes, it will be returned to the House for action for the legislators' retirement plan, which was added by the Senate as an amendment.

Passed and sent to the House were bills to:

Permit state employees to have union dues deducted from their checks.

Empower rapidly growing communities to assist new buildings between regular assessment dates to establish valuations for bonding dates.

Authorize the commissioner of highways to hire consulting engineers, outside civil service, to plan highway projects.

Also approved and sent to the House was a resolution asking Congress to increase the federal contributions to federal aid secondary road projects. Now such federal funds must be matched by an equal sum in county funds. The resolution suggests a division of 75 per cent federal to 25 per cent county funds.

700 Attend A-G Creamery Annual Meeting

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—About 700 attended the annual meeting of the A-G Cooperative Creamery here Tuesday.

Gaylord Weltzin, Arcadia, was named to the board of directors succeeding Eugene Sobotta; Cyril Kulas, Dodge, was elected to replace the late J. F. Brom and Ernest Sobotta, Arcadia succeeds Myron Scow, Arcadia.

Russ Thomas, St. Louis, Mo., gave an address on farm management and a representative of the American Dairy Association also spoke.

1954 A Good Year

1954 was another good year for the creamery and its associated departments, officials reported. Biggest increase was at the A-G Hatchery where earnings were $18,000 higher than the previous year. Nearly 600,000 more chicks were hatched than in 1953. Expansion was greatest too in production facilities, including installation of three large capacity incubators.

At the broiler processing plant, 1,400,000 more pounds of broilers were processed in 1954 than in 1953. Number of pounds processed at the plant last year was 5,239,420.

Earnings in the feed department jumped $15,000 over 1953, from $569,047 to $719,188. Produce earnings, however, were $16,000 less than in 1953 due to lower prices the last six months.

Total earnings in all departments were $143,014.56 compared with $160,574.43 in 1953, about $17,000 less. Dairy earnings were down from $122,904 in 1953 to $88,575.85 due to not taking quite the margin for operating as in the preceding year. Income at the creamery was down because of lowered dairy price supports. Total gross creamery and general income was $518,688.51 in 1954 compared with $532,047.96 in 1953. Earnings disposition was: $118,255 as 7 per cent dividends on capital stocks and $414,896.31 in patron's equity reserves.

A total of five million more pounds of milk was taken in, but 400,000 less pounds of cream, although a total of 120,000 more pounds of butterfat was made up into butter. Production at the creamery went largely into butter and non-fat powder the same as the previous year. Financial condition of the plant is the best it has ever been, officials said, the ratio being about 8:1 of current assets over liabilities. This is probably one of the best showings of any plant in the state, they claim.

Actual figures to compare last year's output with that of the preceding year are given as follows, the first figure in each case being for 1953 and the second for 1954: Pounds of whole milk, 42,133,007 and 47,100,097; pounds of skim milk, 20,375,560 and 18,841,847; pounds of cream, 1,873,476 and 1,457,487; pounds butterfat in milk and cream, 1,879,743 and 1,993,689; pounds of butter manufactured, 2,132,763 and 2,238,378; pounds of dried buttermilk manufactured, 576,900 and 105,200; pounds of non-fat dried milk manufactured, 4,569,655 and 4,824,913; pounds of dried whole milk manufactured, 235,940 and 94,300; condensed cream shipped, 16,991 and 75,492; pounds of butter purchased, 887,884 and 799,077; average price received for butter, 65 cents and 58.70 cents; average price paid for cream, 71½ cents and 65½ cents; average price paid for hundred-weight 3.5 milk, $3.21 and $2.99; overrun, 24 each year.

Creamery Products

Total creamery products income for the two years, 1953 first and 1954 second, was $2,898,293.53 and $2,746,832.13, and gross margin

Mother 'Home' At Last After 7 Long Years

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Mother—Katsanevas—is home at last for the Katsanevas.

Mrs. Mike Katsanevas arrived at a Salt Lake City airport yesterday, alone and bewildered. For seven years she had waited to come from Greece to America and be with her husband.

But somehow word of her arrival failed to reach Mike and her children. She waited an hour and a half. Then suddenly her 66-year-old husband and three of her children hurried into the airport waiting room.

There were tearful embraces and happy exclamations. "Mother" was home.

Mike had to leave Mrs. Katsanevas behind in Greece with seven of his children when he came to America with the other three in 1947. He found work as a janitor at the Clearfield Naval Supply Depot and tried to save so he could bring the rest of his family to their new home.

But the saving was slow. Finally, his fellow workers heard about his efforts and chipped in to bring the family to America in time for Christmas.

The children arrived shortly after the holiday, but Mrs. Katsanevas had had to stay behind until a minor stomach ailment cleared up.

The family still isn't complete. One son, James, is with the U.S. Air Force in Arizona. Another, George, is in the Greek army.

But that will change in time. The family's as good as together now.

from plant products was $476,169.63 and $443,173.91. Total gross creamery and general income was $532,047.96 in 1953 and $518,688.51 in 1954. Pounds of cheese manufactured in 1954 amounted to 147,217. The A-G Elevator had net feed earnings of $2,576.43 in 1953 and $17,354.01 in 1954. Total produce earnings, however, were $1,555.24 in 1954 compared with $17,694.21 in 1953.

Hatchery income was $35,529.46 in 1954 compared with $17,339.28 in 1953. Number of chicks hatched was 2,085,640. The hatchery supplies growers with chicks to be produced as broilers as well as for laying flocks.

The plant now is in high production and will continue that way until in June, company officials said. Although it hatches chicks the year around to supply broiler raisers, spring is the busiest time of the year, due to regular chick production.

'55 Atomic Test Series May Begin

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—After three postponements, chances for the opening of the 1955 atomic test series tomorrow morning appeared brighter today because the Atomic Energy Commission has an ace in the hole.

The AEC disclosed yesterday that, beginning tomorrow, it has a "less sensitive" shot ready for detonation in addition to the one which has thrice been canceled since Tuesday.

The original shot was slated to be exploded from a 500-foot tower on Yucca Flat with 1,100 military men in trenches 4,000 yards away.

Continuing cloudiness and high winds aloft, coupled with sprinkles of rain in the Las Vegas area, forced the third postponement last night.

Pineau Hopes Assembly Will O K Cabinet

PARIS (U) — Christian Pineau, seeking approval as France's first Socialist premier in seven years, today finished piecing together a cabinet he hopes will satisfy the hazy National Assembly.

Pineau plans to go before the deputies for approval tomorrow, but the most favorable estimates gave him less than 320 supporting votes in the 627-member chamber. With likely abstentions, that should assure his confirmation but would promise a shaky government with a brief life expectancy.

Pineau was called in by President Rene Coty Monday to try to form France's 21st postliberation cabinet—a task in which both Antoine Pinay, conservative independent, and Pierre Pflimlin of the Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP), had failed.

If Pineau wins assembly approval, he will be the first Socialist premier since Paul Ramadier's government resigned in November 1947. Since the 1951 elections, the Socialists have even refused to serve in any cabinet because of their adamant stand for a program completely in line with party principles. However, they voted solidly for Pierre Mendes — France, whose defeat on a vote of confidence Feb. 5 launched the present government crisis.

As unofficially reported, Pineau's Cabinet lists 4 Socialists, 4 members of the MRP, 4 Radical Socialists, 2 members of the Union of Democratic and Socialist Resistance and 3 from the Gaullist Republican Union for Social Action.

Thief Turns Over Money to Priest

ALBANY, N.Y. (U) — A young man walked into the confessional of a Roman Catholic church last night and told the priest his conscience was "troubling" him.

Then the man handed over a package of money, asking that it be returned to "ease the burden from my mind."

The priest, who did not obtain the man's name, gave the package to police. The money, in $5 and $20 bills, totaled $2,450.

Police believe the money was taken from a jewelry store Feb. 9. They did not identify the priest or the church.

KLINGSEISEN FLOOD

Map includes an area 140 miles long, about 20 miles wide—to illustrate Atomic Energy Commission's assessment of space in which lives of all persons would be seriously threatened, if they took no protective measures, by radioactive "fall out" from an H-Bomb blast such as the U.S. exploded at Bikini on March 1, 1954. Half the people in an area 160 miles downwind might die, said the AEC, with 5 to 10 per cent fatalities as much as 190 miles from the blast, as noted on the map, assuming a northeasterly downwind. The AEC said the Bikini blast badly contaminated an area of about 7,000 square miles—roughly the size of New Jersey, which has 7,336 square miles. (AP Wirephoto map)

Scientists Can Help Business

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (U)—Business practices now considered advanced would become obsolete overnight if Americans put to use the techniques scientists already know or can develop.

A leading scientist, Dr. Vannoy Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, says so. And he thinks this should be done right about record keeping before the present "vast and ever-increasing store of information" gets too big to be used efficiently.

Take the telephone, Dr. Bush thinks businessmen will use it more and more. But the telephone is often a nuisance, breaking in on other work. Outlining his views to members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers meeting here, Dr. Bush suggests they perfect a way "by which conversations could be carried on when both participants, rather than just one, want to talk and find it convenient to do so."

As for the stenographer on whom most businessmen rely, the scientists say, "We could make a machine that would type when we talked into it."

Dr. Bush finds the postal system, with multiple handling of a letter between sender and recipient, "utterly archaic." He says, "It is quite possible to read addresses photoelectrically, if they are in proper code, and to render all sorting automatic."

But Dr. Bush thinks the most pressing need now is to work out from under the mass of paper that is piling up every day.

The work of thousands of able men is constantly being recorded, he says, but an increasing part of that work is lost, for all essential purposes, "because we do not know how to find a pertinent item of information after it has become embedded in the mass."

Techniques for remedying this are already at hand, he says. Fifty companies are active in the production of one kind or another of data-handling equipment.

Photographic methods can be used to cram the material of a thousand books into the space of a cigarette package. Computing devices can manipulate records in the form of numbers at the rate of a million operations a second.

Scientific literature, legal documents or business records could be thus coded and placed under the control of machinery.

Closed Window Blocks His Punch at Peepers

BUENOS AIRES (U)—Fourteen-year-old Emilia del Carmen Levia, who says the Virgin Mary has appeared to her over and over again in a vision, has received mountains of gifts and thousands of pesos. Preston School Sets Play Contest

PRESTON, Minn. (Special) — A local one-act play and forensics contest — first step in the process of determining entries in a state high school drama festival — will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium here.

Speech director for students here is Miss Dorothy Rumpf, who has announced the cast of two one-act plays to include:

"Riders to the Sea," with Lois Fritche, Cleo Gillum, Pat Post, Boyd Johnson, Wayne Dreier, Janice Kramer, Diane Luehman, Ellen Thomas and Richard Wendt. "The Violin Maker of Cremona," with Kenneth Alderman, Jane Hovelson, Larry Shanahan and Richard Steinkopf.

Participants in speech contests are: Norman Barnes, extemporaneous manuscript reading; Kathryn Burkholder and Barbara Fairbairn, humorous interpretive reading; and Diane Gluen and Marilyn Pierce, serious interpretive reading.

A sub-district contest will be held March 7, when Preston High School will be host to Canton and Harmony high schools.

Small Investor Leaves $154,000

ST. LOUIS (U)—Albert F. Kersten, a bachelor, kept occupied by investing his small life savings and playing cards with friends after retiring 25 years ago as an upholsterer.

Kersten died last Nov. 22 on his 68th birthday. An inventory filed in Probate Court yesterday showed he left an estate valued at $154,800, with stocks and bonds the chief assets.

A spokesman at the Lutheran Convalescent home, where Kersten spent the last six years of his life, said no one was aware he was "a man of wealth."

Tallulah Works For National Unity

He Walks 6 Miles To Escape Dentist

LONG BEACH, Calif. (U)—Eight-year-old Edward Otis went to a dentist yesterday for his second extraction. Edward didn't like the first one, so just before he was called to the chair, he asked to be allowed to wash his hands. He didn't return. A missing person report eventually was filed. Police and his mother Mrs. Elsie Otis feared he had been kidnapped. Several hours later, however, the boy arrived home, the pain from the bad tooth aggravated by sore feet. He had walked six miles.

Racial Pressure Bars Negro Airman From Apartment

WAVERLY, Iowa (AP)—Air Force Capt. Virgil A. Daniels said today that "racial pressure" of neighbors has barred plans to move his family into a government-financed apartment in Waverly.

Daniels, 37, father of three children, is the only Negro officer stationed at the nearby radar installation. He now must commute 42 miles round trip from Waterloo, where he lives in a mixed neighborhood.

He said he took back his $20 deposit on the apartment after the apartment manager, Mrs. J. H. Baker, said he was "not wanted" because of his race. Daniels said he was "not wanted" because of his race.

The manager, Cleve Baker, said he received "four complaints" about the proposed rental to Daniels. "Mr. Baker told me that some tenants had threatened to move because they didn't want to live with colored people," Daniels said.

Baker said the office of the apartment owner, the John J. Miller Construction Co. of Waterloo, told him there could be "no racial discrimination on a federal project."

Daniels, brother of jazz singer Billy Daniels, said he is going into debt by living so far from his work.

"They tell me that a guy from the South like me ought to be used to this sort of thing but you never get used to it," he said.

Daniels said an attorney told him he could sue to get an apartment "but I really don't know what I'm going to do."

Truman, Acheson Still Agree on 'Political Future'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—After being out of office more than two years, Harry S. Truman and his former secretary of state Dean Acheson are still in agreement.

Acheson, visiting the Trumans this week, appeared at a press conference with the former President yesterday. Truman, who is 70, was asked about his future plans. He replied with a quip he's used before:

"I shall run for president the year I'm 90."

Said Acheson: "If Mr. Truman is elected at 90, I shall be happy to serve with him."

Both feel Adlai Stevenson is the best choice for the 1956 Democratic presidential candidate.

Acheson told newsmen the foreign policies of the Truman and Eisenhower administrations are basically the same. But he said the present policy is not being pursued "as rigorously or effectively" as the former.

Nevada Bill Asks End To Public Cheating

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—There are plenty of Nevada laws to keep the gamblers from cheating the public. But it seems no one ever thought to keep the public from cheating the gamblers.

Not that is, until the prosecution of two men who used Mexican coins in Nevada's legal slot machines had to be dropped because no law could be found prohibiting it.

Now the Legislature has sent to the governor a bill making it illegal for the public to cheat the gamblers.

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

BAYOU CRAWFISH PIE IS LENTEN SPECIALTY
Comes Lent, and also, Crawfish Pie, a great bayou country delicacy from Gene Knobloch, Thibodaux, La. He says, "If you don't eat crawfish (shame on you!) you can substitute shrimp."

And we add if you can't find crawfish use shrimp.

3 cups cooked crawfish tails and fat (or shrimps).
3 cups cooked rice.
1 1/2 cups water.
1/4 cup minced celery.
1/2 small green pepper, minced.
1 bunch shallots, chopped fine (we use green onions).
1 bay leaf.
1 can cream of mushroom soup.
4 yolks of hard-boiled eggs.
3 slices well-buttered bread.
Olive oil.
Salt, black pepper, tabasco, Worcestershire, paprika, pimientos.

In the olive oil, saute the celery, shallots and green pepper about 5 minutes. Add the crawfish (or shrimp) and saute about 5 minutes more. Dust with salt, pepper and a few dashes of tabasco. Mix the foregoing with the cooked rice, and stir in the mushroom soup, water, bay leaf and a few dashes of Worcestershire. Check flavor for salt and pepper.

Pour the entire mixture into a well-greased casserole or baking dish. Grate the egg yolks over the top. Cut each bread slice in four triangles, and arrange them atop the egg yolks. Dust with paprika and bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, until thoroughly heated and bread is toasted. Garnish with pimientos and serve eight with gusto. And you may, if you like, use a real pastry over this instead of the bread slices.

C. M. Jenkins, Lexington (Ky.) Leader Chapter, likes these Corned Beef Rolls, good either with canned corned beef or left-over meat:

1/2 cup corn meal.
1 tablespoon salt.
3 cups water.
1 can (12-ounce) corned beef.
1/2 cup raisins.
2 tablespoons flour.

Cattle Barn Gamblers Get Unkindest Cut

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—"You should have stuck to beef and let the bones alone," commented Judge Forrest Harding when he fined nine men for gambling at a local cattle barn. As he paid, one of the men told the judge, "You're the only one that made a point."

Attorneys Lay Groundwork in Murder Trial

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—State attorneys began their prosecution of Albert Fuller with groundwork testimony that may point the way later to eyewitness accounts of the death of A. L. Patterson.

Three witnesses testified yesterday that the downtown area in Phenix City where the antive crusader was slain was well lighted.

Thus, if later witnesses tell the jury they saw certain movement the night of June 18 when Patterson was shot, the prosecution will have laid the predicate with testimony aimed at proving they could have seen them.

Defense attorneys, on the other hand, in cross-examination brought out the location of trees, shrubbery and other obstructions, and land elevations that might block a person's view.

The 35-year-old Fuller, who was chief deputy sheriff at Phenix City during the reign of racketeering there, is charged with Patterson's murder together with Arch Ferrell, who was prosecuting attorney in the little riverfront town, and former Alabama Atty. Gen. Si Garrett.

Ferrell's trial will follow Fuller's, but no date has been set for Garrett's trial. He is undergoing treatment in a Galveston, Tex., hospital.

Herman Scholz Questioned in 2 Bank Holdups

NEW YORK (AP)—Police say trail, 30-year-old Herman Scholz, who reportedly has "fingered" the possible killers in the Rubenstein case, is being questioned about two unsolved bank robberies.

Scholz, picked up Tuesday, told how his own plan to kidnap Rubenstein, 46, for ransom was carried out without him and resulted in a "bungled" job that resulted in the strange slaying of the playboy financier.

The quiet, mild-mannered Scholz, not quite five feet tall, has been a limousine-for-hire driver living an apparently sedate life in Whitestone, Queens, for the past 15 years. But, police said, he has an arrest record dating back to 1923, and authorities found a small arsenal in his home assertedly cached against the day he hoped to become a big-time bank robber.

Scholz is being held in $25,000 bail as a witness in the Rubenstein murder — the high bail set to keep him in custody and protect him from possible harm by underworld mobsters.

The Russian-born Rubenstein, judged to have been worth about 10 million dollars, was slain Jan. 27 in the bedroom of his 5th Avenue mansion. His pajama-clad body has been trussed with cord from a venetian blind and he had been gagged with extra-wide adhesive tape.

Detectives said similar cord and tape were found in Scholz's home, where he lives with his wife and her parents.

Scholz also told of planning to kidnap gambler Frank Costello but of switching his plans in favor of Rubenstein, World War II draft dodger.

Authorities promised no immediate arrests in the Rubenstein murder.

Police now are asking Scholz about the $38,000 robbery on Feb. 10, 1948, of the Bank of Manhattan branch in Whitestone and the $19,400 holdup of the Woodside Savings and Loan Assn. Jan. 2, 1951.

At the time of the Bank of Manhattan robbery, Scholz had a part-time job in a dry cleaning shop next to the bank.

Swedish Relative May Inherit State Bachelor's $45,000

COKATO, Minn. (AP)—An aged housekeeper in Sweden will inherit the $45,000 estate of an eccentric Cokato bachelor recluse she never knew unless three cousins last heard from in the 1890s are found, it was disclosed here today.

Gust Flood, retired farmer and ginseng producer who lived alone in one dirty room of a rambling eight-room house, died March 18, 1951, of malnutrition at the age of 87.

He left cash, securities and real estate originally inventoried at $54,000, but since liquidated to $45,928 after payment of inheritance taxes.

Clifford E. Olson of Cokato, named attorney for the estate by the Wright County Probate Court, said Mr. Flood left no will. The attorney has been searching for legal heirs for four years, traveling to Chicago, Detroit and New York City to run down leads which failed to materialize, and found only one — a cousin who died seven months after Flood.

One of the cousins is Aaron Larson, who died in October, 1951, bequeathing his estate, made up principally of his claim in the Flood estate, to his housekeeper, Boda Anderson of Stora Mellby, Sweden.

The three cousins being sought are August Lindgren (or Carlson), born in 1864, who migrated to America in 1891; Carl Johan Svensson (or Andreason), born in 1869, who came to this country in January, 1891; and Gustaf Emil Svensson (or Andreason), born in 1875, who arrived in the United States in October, 1895. The three were sons, by two marriages, of Anna Flood, an aunt of the Cokato bachelor. If any one or all of the three are living, they are legal heirs to the Flood estate.

Trempealeau Co. Board Acts to Equip Addition

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Property and building committees of the Trempealeau County Board of Supervisors were authorized Tuesday to purchase on bids up to $25,000 in furniture and equipment for the new courthouse addition now under construction.

A resolution was passed authorizing the property committee to purchase all paper and other supplies for the courthouse in the future. The resolution provided that such supplies be kept under lock in custody of the county clerk.

Upon recommendation of the poor committee, $2,077.92 in uncollected accounts from Buffalo, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Jackson, La Crosse, Pepin and Trempealeau counties and from the state were charged off, being out-dated by statute.

At the recommendation of the committee on audit County Clerk H. M. Johnson was reimbursed $378.51 for out-of-pocket expenses chargeable to the county. A total of $545.16 in claims by board members for committee services was allowed, $490 in dog damage, and $1,154.73 in law enforcement accounts, including sheriff's, justices and constables' accounts.

Resolutions Passed
The board concurred in a resolution passed by Brown County requesting the State Legislature to fix county treasurer's bonds not to exceed the tax bill nor less than 10 per cent of the county's valuation. It also favored a Kenosha County resolution requesting the state to authorize county treasurers to retain 7 1/2 per cent of all emergency inheritance taxes, as it pays them 7 1/2 per cent of all regular inheritance taxes at this time.

At the recommendation of the legislative committee, Henrik Herpess, Lincoln, Henry Paulson, Pierson, and Thorvald Twest, Albion, the board also passed a resolution requesting the Legislature to revoke its 1953 law requiring old age pensioners to assign or cash their insurance policies, and re-assign such policies as have already been revoked.

Two-mile stretches of town road in both Sumner and Unity were placed upon the county aid prospective system at the recommendation of the county highway committee. This highway runs through Tracy Valley west of Osseo and northwest into Unity. A petition for placing a town road in Hale on the county aid system was laid over to the April session to give the highway committee more time to study the matter.

The annual financial reports of the county highway department and the county highway commissioner were adopted. The report of the service officer and the veterinarian's service commission were laid over to the April session.

Highway Report
Russell Paulson, Chimney Rock, chairman of the highway committee, informed the board that the State Highway Commission has promised the construction of a new 40-foot bridge on Highway 95 at Blair across Reynolds Creek at a cost of about $30,000, the work to be done this year in connection with the improvement of Highway 95 east to the Jackson County line. The overlying of Reynolds Creek southwest of Blair was one of the causes of excessive flood damage at Blair during 1954.

Paulson also said his committee had approached the state on constructing a new 500-foot bridge on the overflow section of the Trempealeau River near Marshland on Highways 54 and 35, and said that although it is not likely that any work will be done there this year, it may be in the 1956 program. He said that the overflow on the highway at

Wife's Past Too Much for Husband

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U. S. — Richard C. Burke, 21, a Navy man from Arlington, told a Probate Court judge yesterday that his wife was married nine times before without telling him.

He said he first became suspicious when he found several government allotment checks in their home after his marriage in West Virginia last year to Mariguita Campastrano, 25.

The court also was told the woman is serving three years in the West Virginia Women's Reformatory.

Judge John Leggat quickly annulled the marriage.

GE Scientists Make Diamonds

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. — Man-made diamonds exactly like nature's own were announced Tuesday — a scientific dream come true. They cost at least twice as much to make as natural diamonds, but in time may be greatly reduced.

These artificial diamonds are no threat, as yet anyhow, to the value of your diamonds, nor any immediate hope for cheaper diamond necklaces or engagement rings.

But they offer a new home-grown supply of diamonds vitally important in industry and national defense.

Diamond is the hardest known material. Hundreds of pounds are imported annually to cut steel, dig through rock to find oil, make precision tools, perform scores of tasks. War or blockade could not cut off the man-made supply.

Success in creating diamonds was announced by scientists of the General Electric research laboratory. One process does it by creating pressure and heat equal to that 240 miles deep within the earth.

Diamonds are made within a few minutes when a carbon-containing material is subjected to this pressure and heat. The starting material was not identified. But scientists hinted it contains graphite, the carbon used in "lead" pencils. Diamonds are crystals of pure carbon.

By every test, these diamonds are indistinguishable from those dug from mines in Africa or Brazil, where nature made diamonds from carbon, pressure and heat, said Dr. A. L. Marshall, manager of the laboratory's chemistry department. They will scratch natural diamonds. They have the X-ray "fingerprint" of natural diamonds, meet the same chemical tests.

The biggest diamond made here yet is only one sixteenth of an inch in its longest dimension. It weighs only a fraction of a carat, and it takes 130 carats to equal one ounce.

Life's Work Ended

KANSAS CITY (U. S. — Abe Goldstein began his career as a newsboy when he was 7 and kept at it the rest of his life. He died yesterday at 72.

Marshland had been 20 to 22 inches deep over 4/10 of a mile at that point after the 1954 floods. About a mile of town road in Albion was placed on the county aid highway system.

Mayor L. John Schilling, Galesville, who sat as a member of the board Tuesday in the absence of L. S. Montgomery, offered free copies of the fourth edition of "The Garden of Eden" by the Rev. D. O. Van Slyke to board members. He said since appearing with his wife on the Bert Park TV program, they had received requests from 44 of the 48 states for copies of the booklet, which claims that the original Garden of Eden lay in the Galesville area.

Soprano's Illness Switches Operas

NEW YORK (U. S. — A respiratory illness of Italian soprano Renata Tebaldi, scheduled to sing the title role in Verdi's "Aida" for the first time at the Metropolitan Opera, resulted in a switch to Puccini's "Tosca" with Zinka Milanov as the featured singer.

Miss Milanov was called for the substitution less than eight hours before curtain time last night. She never had sung "Tosca" at the Met.

The management, with a sellout audience eager to hear Miss Tebaldi, decided on a complete change of operas. Met officials said only a few persons asked for refunds.

Helpful Cashier Ups Bandits' Take

CHICAGO (U. S. — Although she was behind a bulletproof glass and steel partition, a currency exchange cashier didn't take any chances during a $7,300 robbery yesterday.

Miss Ruth Lichter, 35, told police she shoved $600 under her cashier's window when two men, one of them armed, held up the Regal Exchange on the West Side. Then, when the robbers apparently were ready to leave, one of them glanced back and Miss Lichter shelled out $3,300 more.

After that, they demanded "all of it."

So the cashier scooped another $3,400 from the safe for a grand total of $7,300. The robbers fled.

5 Auto Deaths In Day Carry State Toll to 73

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After lagging for several days, Minnesota's traffic toll spurted ahead of last year, to a total of 73 fatalities compared with 71, with the five deaths reported Wednesday. The count included two small boys.

Latest victims were Kenneth Henke, 23, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Henke, 23, both of Hutchinson. They were killed when a car driven by the woman's husband bounded and rolled more than 400 feet after going out of control.

Walter Henke and another brother, Louis, were hospitalized in serious condition at Glencoe, Sheriff Leon Odegard of McLeod County said the 1954 car was a "complete wreck." Mrs. Henke was pinned under the machine while Henke's body was found 50 feet from it.

In Duluth, 9-year-old DeVand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Gustafson, was fatally injured when his sled collided with a car as he was sliding on an incline near his home. Clement Townsend, 73, the driver, was not held.

Richard, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boxell, was killed as he ran across the street near his south Minneapolis home. Lawrence P. Martini, 29, said the boy darted out so fast that he couldn't stop. He was not tagged.

The fifth death came at Two Harbors where Conrad Erickson, 79, succumbed Wednesday night to injuries suffered 24 hours earlier. He was walking across a road when struck by a car police said was driven by Stanley Loshine, also of Two Harbors.

An inquest into Erickson's death was expected today.

Blue Ribbon Dog Just Home Lover

NEW YORK (U)—Gunner's Might of Land Fall, blue ribbons and all, is just a home lover after all.

The Labrador retriever, best male of his breed at the Westminster Kennel Club dog show in Madison Square Garden Monday, slipped away Tuesday from an ASPCA shelter. He had been placed there by his owner Rear Adm. C. L. Andrews (ret), Newport, R.I.

Searchers yesterday found the valuable dog loitering on Columbus Avenue near 108th Street. He definitely was not enjoying freedom. He was trembling and seemed bewildered by the roar of traffic.

ASPCA officials can't swear to it, but when Gunner's Might (etc.) was put back in his kennel, they heard something like a sigh — of relief.

Heads & Tales

Murray Warmath, Minnesota football coach, provoked a lot of chucking at the testimonial banquet for Church Stamschror Tuesday night at Wabasha St. Felix High School Auditorium.

Warmath told several amusing stories connected with the impression his Southern vernacular made on the Minnesota football players.

"Once, during an early practice when I wanted to gather the players together," Warmath said, "I shouted, 'Heads, heads!'"

"When I coached at Army, we always used that phrase. The kids here didn't respond to it so I yelled 'heads, heads!' again."

"When they didn't pay any attention a third time, I asked some of the boys what I should say when I wanted to get them together."

"David Sauer, a little fellow with a high-pitched voice, was standing behind me and he squeaked:

"Coach, just yell, 'V'all come!'"

Warmath, a native of Tennessee, who coached at Mississippi State before he took over the head coaching reins at the University of Minnesota, told another story.

"I made a reference to a block one of the fellows threw in practice and said, 'If you keep up like that you'll be in tall cotton!'"

"The players who heard my remark just looked at me. Finally Jimmy Soltau said, 'Coach, you're in corn country now.'"

A story about Warmath's "Uncle Josh" followed.

"I went to visit him once," Warmath said. "He lived in the East Tennessee Hills, and is one of those fellows who is too poor to paint and too proud to whitewash."

"Uncle Josh's shack was real to him. Uncle Josh, looks to me like you folks have a hard time finding the necessities of life."

"Uncle Josh drawled, 'Yep, that's right. And when we do find them, it ain't fittin' to drink!'"

The Rev. Msgr. Bernard A. Kramer, the priest of St. Stamschror's home parish in Kellogg, said the people there knew "Chuck was always destined for great things."

To illustrate, the priest told the following story.

"I was holding an instruction class and was talking about God. 'Chuck' just a little fellow then, was busy writing something on a piece of paper. I noticed he was drawing a picture."

"I asked him what he was doing and he said he was drawing a picture of God."

"I told Chuck that we don't know what God looks like, but Chuck answered, 'Well, you'll know when I get done!'"

The banquet was a fine affair and paid just tribute to a deserving young man. Stamschror was given a billfold full of money by the Wabasha Chamber of Commerce and the St. Felix Alumni Association presented him with a two-suitcase piece of traveling luggage.

Joe Walsh of Fountain and Johnny Costello of Rochester, members of the Southeastern Minnesota regional Golden Gloves team, need not feel unhappy about losing in the semifinals of the Upper Midwest Tournament in Minneapolis, according to one observer.

One informant said, "Walsh lost on a TKO to Joe Schmolze of Minneapolis, but Schmolze was named 'Fightingest Fighter' in the tournament so you get an idea of the type of opposition Walsh faced."

"And although Costello lost a close decision to Dave Hendell of the Slayton team, I thought it was the best fight of the night. The boys didn't let up for a minute and the crowd never stopped shouting."

Chuck Stamschror had pro offers from Green Bay, the San Francisco 49ers and the New York football Giants, but chose Green Bay since center Clayton Tommemaker announced his retirement, figuring he would have a better chance to play.

A Minneapolis radio station bought 150 tickets at over $4 per to give to players in the state high school hockey tournament next Wednesday night for the Boston Bruins-Chicago Blackhawks pro game in the St. Paul Auditorium.

All reserved seats for the state hockey tournament have been sold.

"Hockey interest in the Twin Cities is tremendous. It's a No. 1 topic of conversation. Prep hockey outdraws basketball in St. Paul and an example is the Johnson-Harding game for the St. Paul city title. The game drew a crowd of more than 7,000 fans."

broken down by the champion's sharp, slashing counterpunches.

By the third round, the Tiger was trying to carry the fight to Olson with a lively pace from the opening bell — was bleeding from the nose.

By the fourth round, there was blood from a cut on his right eye. By the sixth, another gash near the same place bled profusely until the end.

It was a gory finish.

Judge Frank McAdams and Referee Frank Gilmer gave Olson all 10 rounds, the former scoring it 100-78 and the latter 100-88. Judge John Bray saw it 99-87 for Olson.

Olson, unmarked, said he felt stronger at 168 "but maybe I was faster at 160 and not as easy a target."

After Jones had four stitches taken over his eye, he conceded Bobbo was "the toughest fighter I've ever met."

belongs to Robin Freeman of Ohio State with 27.8 for six games. Freeman, however, has withdrawn from further competition because of injury and illness.

Next to Garmaker is Northwestern's Frank Emmann with 25.7 in 10 games to match Schlundt's 25.7 average.

Northwestern, which shares fourth place with Michigan State and Michigan, retained its team scoring lead with an 82 point average to 81.9 for Minnesota, the league leader with an 82 record.

The Wildcats hold a dominant edge in shooting average with 41.7 per cent.

Minnesota has the top defensive record, yielding an average of 73.8 points. Wisconsin is next with 75.1 and second-place Iowa third with 75.5.

The best average, which probably will stand up for the season,

WHAT ARE THEY DOING? . . . Rather an unusual picture don't you think. This is how basketball players look after they have let fly with a jump shot. Most of us stop watching the shooter when the ball leaves his hand, and follow the flight of the ball as it heads to the basket. The players are members of the Blair High

Height, Scoring Balance Gives Blair Strong Team

By RALPH REEVE

BLAIR, Wis.—The gears in Blair's powerful basketball machine are running smoothly these days and Coach Jerry Nelson feels the scoring balance and defensive ability is reaching the point "where it should be."

Blair is one of the stronger teams in the four-league Wisconsin area by the Mississippi. The Cardinals have a 13-3 record on the season and lead the Trempealeau Valley Conference by the margin of one game over Central High School of Eleva-Strum.

Blair has one major obstacle entering tournament competition and that involves a little tussle Friday night at Eleva-Strum.

Nelson regards that game "a tossup on their floor."

He says, "They are a lot faster than we are and have plenty of room to run around on their regulation-size floor. But we're bigger than they are."

Should Blair defeat Central, it will win the title outright. A victory by Central would leave that team and Blair tied for the crown.

Blair has a starting team averaging 6-1 and the five Cardinal starters are now all averaging 10 or more points apiece.

Paul Halverson, 6-4 center, has a 23-point average, guards Leo Matheson and Ronald Stone are averaging 12 apiece and forwards Roger Solberg and Jerry Stendahl have 12-point per game marks.

Stendahl joined the team after Christmas and has "been of tremendous help," Nelson says. Another factor is that center Halverson is slowly regaining the strength that left him when he was ill in December with glandular trouble.

Unbeaten since Christmas, Nelson says, "We've got a complete team now." The three games Blair lost came in succession before Stendahl joined the team and while Halverson was sick.

I always felt we were weak defensively, but we're starting to pick up in that department," Nelson states. "Against Onalaska we showed improvement."

Onalaska is one of the lower teams in the Coulee Conference, but we held them to 10 field goals, four in the first half, and that means something."

Blair beat Onalaska 73-37 Tuesday night in a non-conference game.

Solberg stands 6-3 and Stendahl 6-1, while guards Matheson and Stone are 6-foot even and 5-9, respectively.

Blair's varsity squad consists of 10 seniors, one junior and one sophomore. Halverson is a junior and Monte Bluske, a 6-footer averaging eight points a game, is a sophomore.

In addition to those players, Nelson cites as outstanding the work of Ralph Anderson.

"He doesn't score much but he's a fine defensive man, a good rebounder and a good ball handler. He just doesn't make mistakes."

Blair's efficiency since Christmas makes it a definite contender for honors in the upcoming and tough Alma-Galesville district tournament.

Blair, Gale-Etrick and Cochrane are three of the toughest teams in the conference and the appearance of those three squads make the tournament this year one of the strongest ever.

But Nelson and his Blair cagers are postponing tournament thoughts for the immediate future. They have that important conference game at Eleva-Strum to look into first.

Cochrane Holds No. 2 Position Behind Mishicot

MADISON (U)—For the third straight week, Superior Central and Mishicot reigned as kings of Big and Little 16 ratings of high school basketball teams of Wisconsin today.

The first 14 clubs in the bigger school grouping retained positions held last week while only Mishicot, Cochrane and Oxford, 1-2-3 last week, held tight in the other division.

The Little 16 rankings will be announced next week, with Big 16 finals coming a week later. District tournament competition begins Monday, regionals Feb. 28, district playoff games March 3 and sectional eliminations March 10.

The 40th annual state tournament will be held here for the eighth surviving quintets March 17-19.

Three newcomers moved into the listings. La Crosse Logan to 15th in the Big 16, and Sauk City, 15th and Glenwood City, tied for 16th in the smaller school classification.

Wilton, No. 7 among Little 16 fives a week ago, tumbled to 11th. Biggest gain was registered by Gale-Etrick union school at Galesville, which climbed from 10th to sixth.

Solons Urge TV Of Gopher Games

ST. PAUL (U)—The University Committee of the Minnesota House of Representatives Wednesday unanimously approved a resolution requesting the University of Minnesota to televise athletic contests and to ignore rulings of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

The action climaxed 2½ hours debate during which the original resolution by Rep. D. D. Wozniak, St. Paul, was modified substantially.

Wozniak's resolution, in its original form, requested that the university televise "all home contests" and that the Board of Regents ignore also the policies of the Big Ten Conference restricting the telecasting of athletic events.

REACH CHECKS TURN

Slide to Get Reach — Topflight bowlers are continually fighting two things that are closely interwoven: An abrupt stop at the line, and a quick, thrusting ball delivery. One invites the other, and, as well, one eliminates the other. Slide, and you'll reach. It's automatic. The longer the slide, the longer the reach, as the sketch shows. Those are the two fundamentals I first impress on pupils—slide and follow-through . . . after setting them properly in starting position, and getting them to move into footwork with a shuffling, slow first step, timed with push-away of the ball to put it into swing. You'll find my free pamphlet, "True Bowling Essentials," helpful in getting your footwork in good shape. For it, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper.

This tip: Reach out, always. Get the habit. Even if your sliding foot should happen to stick on the runway and force a quick stop, swing the arm through as far as possible. It's surprising how often you'll get a strike just the same.

Don Miller Signs Chiefs Contract

Don Miller, a young Austin ball player who is still the property of the New York Yankees farm system, became the 17th member of the Winona Chiefs, according to Winona Baseball Association authorities who released the announcement of his signing today.

Miller played with Austin last season and appeared in 35 games as an infielder. He had 117 times at bat and 23 hits for a .197 batting average.

Miller had three doubles, two triples, two home runs and 12 runs batted in. At field, he made 71 putouts, 90 assists and committed eight errors.

Miller played for Fond du Lac in the Wisconsin State League, a Class D circuit, in 1932 and batted .214 there. He is a former all-star basketball player for Austin Junior College.

Bobo Olson Rips Up Jones in Ten

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (U)—Middleweight champion Bobo Olson, after slicing up Ralph (Tiger) Jones, is going big game hunting.

His first quarry will be battle-wise Joe Maxim, former light heavyweight champion, at San Francisco April 13.

Maxim, who must shed 21 pounds to make the 175 limit for the fight, is on a timetable that Olson's manager Sid Flaherty hopes will lead to a crack at Archie Moore's light heavy title.

Olson carried the most weight of his career, 168 pounds, against Jones, 161, last night at Chicago Stadium and treated a national television audience and 6,221 ring-side customers to a masterful performance in the non-title 10-round bout.

Jones, who a month ago in the same ring defeated Sugar Ray Robinson handily, was gradually

Dietzel Signed As LSU Coach

BATON ROUGE, La. (U)—Young Paul Dietzel begins his first head coaching job today at Louisiana State, faced with the problem of injecting a losing team with winning enthusiasm for a murderous football schedule.

Dietzel, 30, signed to a three-year contract by LSU yesterday at $13,000 annually, told reporters, "I expect enthusiasm, one of the strongest points in a winning football team."

The former assistant to Army Coach Earl Blaik said, "I don't know how the material shapes up. I plan to pick the 11 boys who want to play the most for my starting lineup."

"Football ought to be fun — and I might add it is no fun losing."

Dietzel, recommended highly by Blaik and Biff Jones, former Army athletic director and one-time LSU coach, said, "I feel confident of my professional ability. My job will be to sell LSU to the boys we're seeking to recruit."

LSU traditionally had first choice of material in most Louisiana high schools, but in the last year or two lost coveted boys to archrival Tulane and even out-of-state teams.

Dietzel inherits from ousted Gwynell Tinsley team which won five and lost six games last year. This fall he faces Arkansas and Georgia Tech, the Cotton Bowl teams; Mississippi, the Sugar Bowl loser; Kentucky; rebuilding Texas A&M; Rice; Florida; Maryland; Mississippi State and Tulane.

"I haven't seen a tougher schedule in the United States," he said.

Garmaker Takes Scoring Lead

CHICAGO (U)—Dick Garmaker, Minnesota's sure-handed forward, has taken over the Big Ten basketball scoring place from lofty Don Schlundt of Indiana, official conference statistics showed today.

Garmaker jammed in 29 points in the Gophers' 80-70 victory over Indiana Monday while Schlundt was held to 21. Garmaker now has an official 233 points in 10 league games for a 23.3 average and Schlundt 222 in nine for 25.7.

The best average, which probably will stand up for the season,

'WHY CAN'T I TAKE IT? WHAT IF THE CAR BREAKS DOWN?'

LAFF-A-DAY

"This must be the place."

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1
Evidence mixed. Women are more sensitive than men to criticism, and their feelings are more easily hurt by it. However, far more women than men consult doctors and psychiatrists, apparently wanting to learn the truth about themselves. One study concluded that women confess more readily than men things of which they are ashamed. Surely they don't have as much to be ashamed of as men do!

Answer to Question No. 2
No, if you are losing your mind, this is the very thing that prevents your noticing your loss. You have lost the power of noticing your own mental deficiency. A moron doesn't have the mind to know he hasn't very much to lose. When we think we're losing our minds, we are in a very high state of anxiety and need expert counsel. Answer to Question No. 3

Nothing better. In good public speaking your mind, body, and personality are in high gear. In the course of coaching many public speakers, I've found the hardest thing is to teach them to be natural. But artistic naturalness requires training. That's the poise. A famous actor once told me: "We study acting for years, then we learn to be natural and become real actors."

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

While the three bad chaps were hurrying back from where they had been blown by the strong wind, Uncle Wiggly was hopping around in the dark night, not too far from his hollow stump bungalow.

In one of his pockets, Mr. Longears had a valentine he had made of white lace paper, with red hearts and blue flowers, for Nurse Jane.

"But if I slip the valentine under the front door now, ring the bell and hop away, Nurse Jane will be sure to guess that I did it," said the rabbit uncle to himself. "She knows that I went out without eating any dessert. She knows I must come back. I must wait a while before I leave the valentine for her. Then she will think it was slipped under the door by someone else—maybe Pat Butler. Perhaps I had better put Pat's name on the envelope. Then Nurse Jane will be sure to know I did not leave her a valentine. Half the fun of a valentine is not knowing who sent it."

In the dark, as best he could, Uncle Wiggly, with a pencil, printed the name of the grocery store goat on the envelope of Nurse Jane's valentine. Then he put it back in his pocket.

"I will just hop around a little longer, then I will play my valen-

11-Year-Old Offers

Army His Services

CAZENOVIA, N.Y. (AP)—If the Army runs into any trouble it can count on Tim White.

From his parents' farm near this central New York village, Tim wrote to Lt. Gen. Thomas W. Herbert, commanding general of the 1st Army:

"I am only 11 years old. But I feel I must do something for the Army. If there anything I can do please write me so. Thank you."

Herbert replied that Tim could help "by trying with all your might to follow the examples of our great leaders." The general invited Tim to visit Governor's Island whenever he was in New York.

But Tim's mother, Mrs. William White, said, "Oh no, we couldn't afford that."
